ONE TIME CHARM OF WASHINGTON ONLY A MEMORY

Gives Way to Haste, Waste, Hysteria.

BY MARCIA WINN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—This once sleepy southern city of charm and peace on the Potomac has burgeoned into the frenzied capital of the world.

Here is being enacted a spectacle of imperial waste. It is being enacted on a scale that would have been considered grandiose even in the days of Xerxes, most lavish of the kings of man.

Out of the city pours a ceaseless stream of money at the rate of 175 million dollars a day. If it keeps up, 63,875 million dollars will have poured out by this time next year. Not for routine costs of government, not for loans to the British or other nations, but all in the name of "defense."

Arrive by Plane and Train.

Into the city, to direct, touch, fight for or carry away a bit of this money, now tumble 45,000 people a day by train, 1,000 by plane. An almost equal number tumble out again, many with a fistful of arms contracts, many with broken hopes and illusions.

Here a conglomerate army of government workers holds forth. As armament becomes more of an octopus, so the multitude swells.

From May, 1940, to May, 1941, government workers were brought in at the rate of 1,000 a week; now the so-called defense workers are arriving at the rate of 3,000 a week and the real rush is on. They come by hordes to live five to a room, 10 to a bath.

Lobbyists and Propagandists.

With this army of jobholders, who hurry down the streets and sidewalks, morning, noon, and evening, is a camp-following of amazing proportions. Lobbyists, propagandists, experts of every species, wealthy industrialists, social climbers, inventors, ladies of uneasy virtue, and pickpockets infest the city.

So many newcomers throng the streets and government buildings that, as a Democratic congressman phrased it, "any one who has been here 28 days is a veteran." During the chaotic days before the Civil war, a common Washington joke was that if a boy threw a stone at a dog on Pennsylvania avenue, he would hit three brigadier generals. Now he would hit at least two dollar a year men, an OPM official and a defense contract that had been misplaced.

Inexpensive and convenient housing is a dream of the forgotten past. The government takes over new apartment buildings before the tenants can move in. Rents have skyrocketed. The cost of living has shot up 15 per cent. Traffic is perilous. Crime is rampant and in general unpunished and unsolved.

Hysteria Rides Steed of Mars.

It is fashionable to be interventionist, and hysteria rides the steed of Mars. A bit of this jumps boldly out at the newcomer in the heart of the city, for a vacant square in front of the Willard hotel, in the bars of which many of the plans of government are worked out, has been made into what some term "Propaganda square."

Its allotted name, however, is Treasury House. On it are booths for the Red Cross and the United Service organizations [USO]; a small white domed building where defense bonds are sold; recruiting offices for the army, navy, marine corps and coast guard; tents, 155 millimeter howitzers, 77 mm. anti-tank guns, a 6 pounder navy gun, an old navy Y gun and endless other martial equipment. The attendants are brisk, eager and in uniform. The Marine band has a stand where it plays pounding, martial strains several times a day. Broadcasts and much of Washington's warlike tempo stem from "Propaganda square."

Telephone Calls Double.

Everywhere there is rush and red tape and tempers are short. This might be ascribed to the heat, which in the miasmic swamp of Washington is muggy and irritating, if Washingtonians did not deny it so candidly. They say the division on the war issue and the paralyzing muddle of the defense setup are its sole causes.

The new tempo of the city may be gauged by one factor: its telephone service. In the first seven months of this year, more new telephones were installed than in the whole year of 1940. The Washington force handles

2½ YEAR ARMY TERM WAR ACT, HOUSE WARNED

AEF Its Goal, Fish Tells Members.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—In an atmosphere of solemnity, the house of representatives today began consideration of the administration resolution providing for the extension of terms of service of draftees, National Guardsmen, reservists, and regular army enlisted men and empowering the high command to raise an army of unlimited strength. The senate last night adopted the measure by a vote of 45 to 30.

Representative Hamilton Fish.

Democratic floor leaders admitted privately after today's session that they have grave doubts as to the outcome of the legislative battle.

That they will have to bargain and make compromises to get the necessary votes for passage from members, all of whom come up for reëlection next year, is accepted as a fact. How far they will have to go—whether the opponents will be able to muster the strength to kill the section providing for extending the draftees' training period—probably will not be known until the first tests on amendments early next week.

Plan Flood of Amendments.

General debate is expected to last six hours, extending over into the Monday session. Offering and debate on amendments then will be in order. Republican floor leaders predicted that at least a hundred amendments would have to be acted upon before a final roll call on the resolution.

The session was climaxed by an attack on the legislation by Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], leading noninterventionist in the house, who assailed the leading members of the administration, including Secretary of the War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Knox, as war mongers and charged that the draft extension resolution is a war measure.

"Secretary Stimson," said Fish, who represents President Roosevelt's home district in congress, "is an estimable old gentleman who has an obsession amounting to a passion to involve us in wars all over the world. Congress should understand that surrendering its constitutional powers to the secretary is practically placing in his hands the power to declare war."

Sees Drive for War.

Passage of the measure, Fish continued, would mean the start of a world-wide crusade by the American government; the real issue involved in the legislation is a "carefully and skilfully directed plan" to take this nation into another World war, and the war makers are for it only because it will provide them with sufficient troops for another overseas expeditionary force.

The house debate in its early stages was on strict partisan lines, with Majority Leader John W. McCormack [D., Mass.] directing the battle for

HOMEWOOD DAIRYMAN CHARGES 3 ALLEGED GOONS WITH ASSAULT

Warrants charging three alleged labor goons with assault were issued early today by Justice of the Peace John P. Egan in Joliet, on the complaint of Fred Twietmeyer, 37 years old, operator of a dairy in Homewood.

Twietmeyer was slugged by three men late yesterday near New Lenox, Will county. His nose was broken. He told Sheriff Joseph J. O'Neill he had been warned by agents of the Teamsters' union in Will county not to sell milk in Joliet.

The warrants sworn to by Twietmeyer named Howard Floyd, a business agent; Elrie [Husky] Floyd, Howard's uncle, and Jerry Dodge as his assailants. Justice Egan fixed their bonds at $5,000 each. Search for the alleged sluggers is under way. State's Attorney James E. Burke questioned Twietmeyer briefly, and said he will take a formal statement today.

"ONWARD, CHRISTIAN SOLDIERS!"

Bread Prices Rise; See Boost of 110 Millions

Bread is going to cost the American public about 110 million dollars more in the next 12 months than during the last 12 month period, if scattered price raises become general.

Already an increase of 1 cent a loaf has been posted in New York, most of New England, Detroit, Mich., and Cleveland, O., and one Chicago chain store organization announced a similar boost. Other local bakeries will follow suit, it was indicated.

11 Billion Loaves a Year.

The United States consumes 11 billion loaves of bread annually, including 7 billion made with white flour and 4 billion of special types.

An independent baker was asked yesterday why the price was to be increased.

"Higher costs," was the answer.

Congress, prodded by the administration, raised parity loan values on wheat and other major farm crops to boost the farmers' cash income, the baker recalled. Flour prices followed the rise.

Table of Ingredients.

Consulting his books, the baker offered the following price comparisons of the major ingredients used in making bakery products:

| | 1941. | 1940. |
|---|---|---|
| Flour, bbl [196 lbs.] | $5.90 | $4.13 |
| Shortening, lb | .15½ | .09½ |
| Milk, lb | .11½ | .08½ |
| Sugar, per 100 lbs. | 5.72 | 4.72 |
| Lard, lb | .12 | .06¾ |

In addition, the baker said, wages have increased approximately 5 per cent and a further boost is probable.

Before this week's advance, the national average on the price of a loaf of white bread was between 9 and 10 cents, with Chicago consumers getting a 20 ounce loaf for a dime. Rye, whole wheat, and other special types sold at 10 cents for a 16 ounce loaf.

Butter and Eggs.

While the bakers are paying more for the ingredients to make bread, the consuming public likewise is forced to meet the rising cost of these items. For example, dealers estimate that Chicagoans are paying $26,000 a day more for eggs than they did last year, and $13,000 a day more for butter.

Chicagoans consume approximately 180,000 pounds of butter a day and 240,000 dozen eggs. The wholesale price of butter—34½ cents a pound—compares with 27¼ cents last year. And the wholesale price of eggs is 26⅛ cents a dozen, compared with 16 cents a year ago.

These increased costs have been traced to the government's purchases that are shipped to England. Both egg and butter production are at all-time high levels.

SEND TWO FLYERS IN DECAPITATION CASE TO FEDERAL PRISON

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 8 (AP).—Two ensigns court martialed at the naval air station here May 20, after their low flying plane decapitated a woman working in an Alabama turnip field, were dishonorably discharged and sent to prison today after conviction of involuntary manslaughter charges.

Ensigns Paul C. Brown [top] and Joseph C. Thompson.

The ensigns were Joseph C. Thompson of Healdsburg, Cal., and Paul C. Brown of Chicago.

Brown, pilot of the plane which decapitated Mrs. Robert Phillips of Robertsdale, Ala., on March 25, was sentenced to 24 months and Thompson, his passenger, was sentenced to 12 months.

They were discharged shortly after noon and under marine guard started for the naval prison at Portsmouth, N. H.

The court martial findings were approved in turn by Secretary of the Navy Knox and President Roosevelt.

An indictment against the two also is pending in the Alabama state courts.

LINDY TO SPEAK AT CLEVELAND RALLY TONIGHT

Cleveland, O., Aug. 8 [Special].—Charles A. Lindbergh will speak tomorrow night in Cleveland auditorium at an anti-war rally sponsored by the America First committee. He announced today that his subject will be "Government by Representation or Subterfuge." The address will be broadcast over WMAQ at 9:30 p. m. Chicago daylight time.

Lindbergh will share the platform with Senator D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho], who has joined the fight to keep the United States out of the European war. Representative Martin L. Sweeney [D., O.] will preside and R. Douglas Stuart, national director of the America First committee, will speak briefly.

Attorney John B. Osmun, chairman of the Cleveland America First committee, said a police detail had been assigned to take care of the crowd expected at the auditorium, which seats 22,000. He recalled that Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] drew more than 9,000 persons on a Sunday afternoon in April here.

Oil Scarce? It's News to 3 Who Drill for Britain

New York, Aug. 8—The British face no oil shortage in the middle east, three American oil men asserted yesterday upon their arrival here aboard the American-South African line steamship City of New York after two and a half years in Egypt. The British, they said, have adequate oil resources in the eastern Mediterranean to supply both their army and their fleet in that area.

The oil men expressed astonishment at the "curfew" which purports to forbid night sales of gasoline and oil on the eastern seaboard of the United States. They contrasted the American shortage with the plentiful oil supply the British are getting from leased oil lands on the Red sea.

Reveal Canal Is Operating.

The returning oil men, William C. Teutsch, Springhill, La., J. T. Roche, Taft, Cal., and Justin P. Ramsay, McAllen, Tex., all drillers for the Socony-Vacuum oil company, disclosed that while constant axis bombings often block the Suez canal it is being kept open for the passage of American munitions, planes, and food for the British armies.

[Axis communiques have frequently claimed that the canal had been made unusuable. The British have been silent about any damage.]

Gigantic cranes, they said, are operated by the British along the narrow 103 mile waterway to remove wreckage of ships disabled by axis aerial bombs or mines sown by flyers in the waterway. Some of the machines were described as American-made and the oil men said they were capable of removing a wrecked ship in two days after dynamite had completed the destruction wrought by dive bombers or mines.

200 Ships Tied Up Once.

Ramsay said a Greek freighter was sunk in the canal and before it was removed in two days more than 200 ships were blocked off at the Suez or Red sea entrance of the canal.

When the wreck was cleared, the 200 ships filed swiftly thru to Port Said and Alexandria with their cargoes of tanks, planes, food, ammunition, rubber and tin.

[The Red sea entrance at Aden is the mouth for American supplies and for goods and troops reaching Egypt from India, Australia, the Straits settlements, and Persia.]

The oil men left Egypt on May 19 for America, returning home via Durban, South Africa.

BEWARE RUSSIA, CHURCH GROUP AND AFL WARN

The voices of organized religion and of organized labor joined yesterday in warning against American commitment to an unholy alliance with soviet Russia which could result only in gain to the Reds and in extension of anti-democratic and anti-Christian forces in the United States.

Opposition to the growing tendency of the Roosevelt administration to side with bolshevism in the European war and with communist fellow travelers in this country, who are urging that America go "all out" for Stalinism, was expressed by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor and the executive committee of the Church League of America.

Renaissance of Communism.

Both statements emphasized that the collapse of the Russo-German pact and the existing war between the erstwhile signatories had made possible a renaissance of the discredited cause of communism in the United States. Both warned that Russia's friendly gestures were dictated by desperation and hypocrisy, and that American encouragement would only signal the resumption of communism's campaign to entrench itself more firmly in American life.

The statement of the Church league, authorized for distribution among 50,000 clergymen and all members of congress by Frank J. Loesch, general chairman, stated:

"This appeal is issued especially because of the great growth communism has enjoyed in this country since Mr. Roosevelt recognized soviet Russia in 1933. Following that act, communist prestige and activity spread rapidly in the United States.

"The communist front suffered a certain jolt when Russia grabbed a large part of Poland and sovietized it. It again had a setback when Stalin attacked Finland, and it suffered another blow when Stalin made a pact with Hitlerism.

"Two Bloodiest Dictators."

"Now that Stalin and Hitler, the two bloodiest dictators of all time, are fighting each other, the communists who are so extensively entrenched in this country are staging a big play for a strong comeback in American influence and power."

Urging that workers' schools serving as propaganda centers be closed by government action, the league stated: "Ours is a country founded solidly on individual liberty and religious liberty. The soviet government of Russia is based on avowed principles and precepts diametrically opposed to the Christian way of life with which our constitutional form of government is woven."

The AFL council, meeting in the Drake hotel, recalled that only a few weeks ago soviet leaders were defending the indefensible acts of the Nazis, but that now, the victim of the predatory power she helped to make mighty, Russia attempts to identify itself as the champion of freedom and democracy.

"Lacking in Principle."

"The communists have exposed their system as a purely opportunistic dictatorship, completely lacking in principle," the AFL statement asserts. "The council fears that the change in the war picture may give rise to a tendency among some enthusiasts to clasp the hand of Russia as a friend and ally in the defense of democracy. Already the communists in this country are trying to propel America into close alliance with Russia.

"This is unthinkable. The teachings and practices of communism are just as noxious and unprincipled as the teachings and practices of Nazism. Soviet Russia is not the willing ally of the forces of democracy in this war. She was forced into the war and her present friendly gestures to Great Britain and America are dictated by desperation and hypocrisy.

"The communists are pretending to be the friends of democracy because they need the help of democratic nations. Basically, however, communism is a form of totalitarianism which is inimical to democracy."

TELLS U. S. PLANS FOR RELIEF WORK AFTER WAR ENDS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 (AP).—Adolf A. Berle Jr., assistant secretary of state, tonight declared that the United States plans—"when the tide of barbarity shall be rolled back"—to turn the full measure of its economic strength to the relief of millions impoverished by the war.

Speaking at a reception given by the grand duchess of Luxembourg, Berle said there is no doubt that the conquered nations of Europe "wait only for the opportunity to break the chains of this temporary barbarism and to reëstablish the laws and customs of civilization."

PUTS UKRAINE CASUALTIES OF FOE AT 200,000

Seize Commanders and 103,000 Men.

BERLIN, Aug. 8 (AP).—The German high command in a special report tonight declared that the Russian 6th and 12th armies and part of the 18th had been destroyed on the Ukrainian front, with 103,000 soviet soldiers taken prisoner. Russian casualties were put at more than 200,000.

The prisoners, the announcement said, included the commanders of both the 6th and 12th armies. It was stated that 317 tanks, 858 guns, and 5,250 motor trucks were captured. In all, it was stated, 25 Red divisions were wiped out.

Capture Much Booty.

Earlier, the high command's regular daily communique had reported the capture of the commander of the soviet sixth army along with "other high troop leaders" and more than 30,000 prisoners and much booty.

[These figures apparently were reported as in addition to Russian losses announced Wednesday for the Ukrainian front since the start of the war. They were put then at 150,000 prisoners taken and 1,970 tanks, 2,190 artillery pieces, and 980 planes captured or destroyed.]

The Russians were taken, according to the high command, in the annihilation of a Russian assault force encircled southeast of Uman. This town is about 75 miles south of Bel Tserkov, where bitter fighting has been reported recently, and about 125 miles south of Kiev, the Ukrainian capital.

Indicates Drive on Odessa.

This action indicated that the Germans are now directing a main southern offensive southward toward the Black sea coast to cut off the important port of Odessa, which is some 140 miles from Uman.

Several merchant ships, including transports, were reported damaged by German air raiders yesterday in the Black sea port of Ochakov.

The Nazi air force was reported by DNB, official news agency, as active the last few days along the lower Ukraine bend of the Dnieper river, especially near Dnepropetrovsk, where 10 long trains, the railway station, and yards were said to have been destroyed.

Take Estonian Town.

On the Estonian front the high command reported capturing Rakvere [Wesenberg], 60 miles east of Tallinn, on the railway to Leningrad, and said that the German forces then pushed 15 miles beyond to the Gulf of Finland.

Unofficial German sources said that the Germans were fighting within 25 miles of Tallinn.

Thus, according to Berlin claims, the northwestern corner of Estonia still held by the Russians is bounded on the west and north by tidewater and on the east and south by hostile German forces, and is without rail connection to the Russian hinterland.

EXPERTS PLACE NAZI AND RED CASUALTIES AT 70,000 MEN A DAY

VICHY, France, Aug. 8 (AP).—Military observers in Vichy estimated today that the Germans have lost 1,500,000 men and the Russians 2,000,000 men on the eastern front, making the campaign the bloodiest in history.

Losses, it was said, are running as high as 70,000 daily. In the battle of Smolensk alone Nazi losses were placed at 5,000 a day just in men killed.

Experts gave this approximation of the losses in material:

The Germans—7,500 tanks; 5,800 guns; 5,000 planes.

The Russians—9,000 tanks, 7,250 guns; 7,300 planes.

Vichy's estimates of casualties, between the Russian and German extremes, were as follows:

| Source. | Men lost. German. | Russian. |
|---|---|---|
| Berlin | Unstated | 4,000,000 |
| Moscow | 1,500,000 | 600,000 |
| Vichy | 1,500,000 | 2,000,000 |

Thus, Vichy's estimate agreed with Moscow's as to German losses, but more than tripled Moscow's acknowledgment of its own losses.

BATTLES RAGE ON 3 MAIN FRONTS, RUSSIA REPORTS

Claims Air Force Deals Heavy Blows at Foe.

MOSCOW, Aug. 9 [Saturday].—Battles raged all day Friday on the bloody fronts, before Leningrad, Moscow, and Kiev, the soviet army stated early today, and by naming towns around which fighting has been going on for days, indicated that the Russian lines held firm.

The Red army fought the invaders at Kakisalmi, on the Karelian isthmus about 75 miles northwest of Leningrad, and in Estonia, southwest of Leningrad, the soviet information bureau announced in its regular communique. Battles also raged at Smolensk, 230 miles southwest of Moscow, and at Korosten and Bel Tserkov, towns on the front before Kiev.

The announcement said the Red air force, "in coöperation with land troops dealt blows at enemy armored units and infantry and attacked aircraft on airdromes." The Red air force destroyed 21 German aircraft and lost 14 of its own on Thursday.

Claim 140 Boats Sunk.

The soviet navy organ Red Fleet reported that the Germans had lost 14 submarines in 44 days of war. Four were destroyed by mines, one by collision with a Bulgarian destroyer in the Black sea, and others by soviet naval action.

Red Fleet said the Germans also lost more than 30 transports, 10 destroyers, 3 patrol boats, 2 monitors, 2 cutters, and 2 trawlers. It pointed out that the Germans had been unable to transfer large warships into the Baltic.

Sailors of the Red navy were reported to have joined the army in heavy land fighting on the Estonian front. A dispatch from the front reported that sailors from the Baltic fleet had recaptured a village after a three day battle.

Plea for Guerilla War.

The commander of the western front, Marshal Semeon K. Timoshenko, and Vice Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin, who is a member of the military council, issued an appeal to the population of German occupied regions to intensify their guerrilla warfare.

"Join partisan detachments, attack and exterminate enemy columns carrying gasoline, ammunition, and provisions," the soviet leaders urged. "Blow up bridges, cut telephone wires, burn buildings and forests in which Germans are hiding and let not a single ounce of food fall into the enemy's hands."

GREEN DEMANDS VOICE FOR LABOR IN POLICY MAKING

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said at a massmeeting of 12,000 trade unionists at the Chicago Stadium last night that organized labor should be granted a voice in federal policy making and freed from the threat of repressive legislation in return for its unconditional support of the defense program. His address was broadcast on a national network.

Green spoke at the celebration of the 60th anniversary of the founding in Chicago of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, whose leader, P. J. McGuire, issued the call in 1881 which led to formation of the AFL.

"We have requested," he said, "that workers be accorded a voice on policy making agencies affecting us as wage earners. We ask continued freedom from restrictive legislation. We have given our word that we will not strike on defense projects without first exploring every available channel for peaceful settlement of disputes.

"The wage earners ask only the opportunity of proving the almost limitless responsibilities which can be realized by free men in a free nation."

ADVANCING FINNS FIND ONLY RUINS IN WAKE OF REDS

Stalin Edict to Scorch Earth Obeyed.

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER.

WITH THE FINNISH ARMY IN RUSSIA, Aug. 8 (AP).—Five days spent with the Finnish army have given me proof that the Red army carries out to the letter Josef Stalin's order to destroy everything of value on retreat.

Any abandoned village or town can be spotted long before we reach it by the chimneys standing like so many sentinels amid scenes of desolation. A curious sight is the second story iron stoves left in midair, hooked to the chimneys, when the rest of the house has burned.

Stalin Statue in Every Town.

No matter how small any town, it has a large statue of Stalin. At first when the Finns captured the towns they smashed these statues. The high command, however, soon deemed it better to have them taken as trophies.

At one little village we saw this curious sight: From a Stalin statue the nose had been knocked off and the face disfigured but from one arm hung a sign in Finnish saying, "Do not disfigure this statue any more—it is to be taken to the museum." Some one had put a Red army cap on the statue's head.

Church Turned Into a Movie.

At another village we found a church still standing, but found it had been converted into a community movie. Seats were set aside for political commissars, a colonel, and a major. A religious painting on the ceiling remained.

One characteristic of all Russian villages is a triumphal wooden arch with a communist slogan. The Finns tear down the slogans but leave the red arches intact.

UNION WILL SIGN WITH NEW JUKE BOX OPERATORS

Sergt. George Barnes of the police labor detail said yesterday that he had been assured a contract will be signed Monday between the electrical workers' union and the K. P. Music corporation, 1057 Wilson avenue, operators of talking juke boxes, known as automatic hostesses. The contract will provide that the boxes be serviced by union members.

Sergt. Barnes said he was given the assurance by William F. Cleary, international representative for the electrical workers' union in Chicago.

Previously the K. P. company had asserted it was willing to sign a contract but that Michael J. Boyle, boss of the local union, did not want the new jukes to operate and that his union had forced removal of the boxes to prevent interference with old style juke boxes, which load about 20 phonograph records.

Use Lake Pontchartrain to Test Invasion Barges

New Orleans, La., Aug. 8 (Special).—Invasion barges which carry troops, big guns, and tanks are being tested by the United States navy on Lake Pontchartrain here. The barges are self-propelled and designed to run up on a beach to permit invasion troops to go ashore without wetting their feet and to permit tanks to be driven off. The barges can carry up to 30 men.

REPORT NAZIS SET NEW TIME TABLE AS BLITZ FAILS

Army Seeks Five Million Fur Coats.

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 8 (AP).—Information reaching Berne from foreign military quarters in Berlin indicated tonight that the German high command was forced to revamp its Russian campaign to a long term basis July 15 when it became evident that blitzkreig plans would fail.

This information was that Germany originally had planned to occupy the Ukraine and take Leningrad within three weeks, then seize Moscow, and reach Astrakhan, on the Caspian sea 1,700 miles east of Berlin, by the end of August.

Set New Time Table.

The new time table calls for capture of Leningrad and Moscow and an advance to the Caucasus by the end of September, the military sources said. If the Russian army is still in existence the Germans would pursue it toward the Ural mountains then settle down on a defensive line.

According to the reported plan, the defensive line would extend from Lake Ladoga to the Volga river east of Leningrad and Moscow, continuing on the west bank of the Volga to Astrakhan. The Rumanian and Hungarian armies would be expected to help the Germans hold the line.

The information gave this picture of the strategy from that point on:

In October, Turkey would be asked for free passage of German troops for a campaign against British forces in the middle east.

Japan would attack Russia in the Lake Baikal region of eastern Siberia if the United States intervened actively on the soviet side.

Seek 5 Million Fur Coats.

During the winter the Nazi air force would concentrate on destruction of Russian industrial centers between Moscow and the Urals. A stock of 5,000,000 fur coats to clothe German troops during the winter already is being collected. Two months before the outbreak of the Russian war the German army had 2,000,000 fur coats which were obtained in Afghanistan, Turkey, and Iran. Sweden, Norway, and Germany are now being combed to supply another 3,000,000.

The military sources reported that the slow advance of the German army had caused "visible disappointment" among the German population, who were more interested in the prospect of rapid occupation of the Ukraine than in capture of Smolensk, 230 miles southwest of Moscow, or Leningrad.

Night Raid on Chungking Follows 140 Plane Attack

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 9 [Saturday]—(AP).—Japanese planes bombed Chungking in a moonlight raid early today on the heels of mass day raids by 140 bombers. It was the first night raid since July 7, fourth anniversary of the outbreak of the Chinese-Japanese war. Some damage was done in the center of the city. In the daylight attack more than 30 Chinese were killed and injured when a bomb caved in a waterfront dugout.

BERLIN BOMBED AGAIN; RUSSIANS TAKE THE CREDIT

BERLIN, Aug. 9 [Saturday] (AP).—Berlin was attacked from the air during the night for the second successive night, but no anti-aircraft fire or bomb explosions were heard in the heart of the city. Two of the raiding craft were reported downed. Their identity was not made known.

[Reports from Moscow said soviet planes had bombed Berlin for the second successive night.]

Berlin Blames Raid on RAF.

LONDON, Aug. 9 [Saturday] (AP).—Russian planes were reported to have bombed the Berlin area last night for the second straight night as the RAF struck again at northwestern German targets.

The Berlin radio heard by Reuters here again claimed that British bombers were responsible for the attacks on Berlin, which it said were frustrated. The British denied they attacked the Nazi capital and said their efforts were limited to western and northwestern Germany.

REPORTS PLENTY TO EAT ON AIR TRIP TO EUROPE

The British crew of an American-built Catalina flying boat, on which Arthur Mann, Mutual Broadcasting system representative, was a passenger, didn't sight any German submarines on the Atlantic, but there was plenty to eat on board. Mann related his experience in a broadcast from London heard here last night.

Shortly after the takeoff from a British port, Mann and the crew of nine had a luncheon repast of chicken, steak, and ham paste. At 4:30 p. m. there was another collation of tea and cake. And in the evening, duck egg omelettes were served.

The sea was too choppy and the visibility too poor to find any Nazi U-boats, Mann said.

1 Charges Kidnaping

Mrs. Arline Kite, 22 years old, of 7300 South Shore drive, seeking a contempt citation against her husband, Allan, 35, charged yesterday that he kidnaped their 3 year old daughter, Susan, from her last Wednesday. She told Judge John P. McGoorty that Wednesday was Kite's regular day to visit the child, but that he telephoned he would not come. As she was walking the child on South Shore drive, she said, Kite drove up, jumped from his car, seized the child from its perambulator, and drove away, telling her that was the last she would see of the baby. Four hours later, however, he returned Susan. Judge McGoorty announced that he would rule Aug. 15 on the citation and on a petition for injunction to restrain Kite from visiting the child.

Because her husband, Paul, 35 years old, a former marine, is going to reenlist, Mrs. Pauline Pieringer, 29, of 833 Agatite avenue, waived alimony and insisted that her husband be made to pay only $10 a week for the support of their son, Richard, 9, when she was granted a divorce by Superior Court Judge Charles A. Williams yesterday. Mrs. Pieringer said that her husband will soon be getting a lower salary than his present one as supervisor in a department store.

Intern Vichy Syrian Chiefs for Armistice Violations

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Aug. 8 (AP).—Gen. Henri Dentz, former Vichy high commander in the Levant states, and 34 other senior Vichy officers in Syria and Lebanon have been interned by the British occupying authorities. It was announced the French officers failed to live up to last month's armistice agreement to return all British or "Free French" officers captured in the 31 day Syrian campaign.

PEACE OFFICERS URGED TO AVOID WAR PROPAGANDA

Cross Issues Warning on Snares of Hysteria.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 8 [Special].—Acting Gov. Hugh W. Cross warned today against America's preparedness program becoming part of a prowar propaganda program. He spoke before 75 sheriffs, police chiefs, and deputies from 10 counties at a meeting called by the United States department of justice.

Hugh W. Cross.

Federal men—Marks Alexander, assistant district attorney, and A. H. Crowl, a special agent of the federal bureau of investigation—told the meeting of their duties in combating espionage and sabotage. The press was invited to this part of the program. A display of riot and demolition bombs and a detective movie of solving a sabotage crime were presented behind closed doors.

"Let us not let our defense program become part of the propaganda to drag the United States into the European war," Cross said. "Let us not let the defense program become part of the prowar program. Let us keep our heads. It is easy to become hysterical.

Be Calm, Cross Urges.

"Let us be calm. A strong America is not in danger with the rest of the world exhausting itself in combat. America can be strong if its strength is not drained for the benefit of participants in the European and Asiatic battlefields.

"In 1916, most of you will recall, the home defense movement did become hysterical. German bakeries were stoned. Good Americans were forced to change their German names to escape embarrassment. Such hysteria led us into a war in 1917, costing America thousands of lives and millions of dollars. And, incidentally, we're still paying heavy taxes for that war. Little Finland was the only country that tried to repay its war debt to America.

"Now we are also paying heavy taxes due to another foreign war. Let us not also spend American blood in this new foreign war.

Cites Officers' Duty.

"Let us not look for ghosts that will incite the public to approve our entrance into another foreign war.

"Law enforcement officers can do much to influence public opinion. Before the present open friendship between Washington and Moscow the public read much of criminal communist activities in America. Those activities are still criminal. Prosecute them as vigorously as any subversive activities by Hitler.

It's Still America, Says Cross.

"Your sworn oath is to one country, America. And there should be no compromising of this duty even in furtherance of our sympathies for England in her struggle to maintain her empire.

"Despite the warmongers and their agents, this is still America. Let us keep it America for Americans."

Cross, a private in the World war, told of the activities of the state council of defense, of which he is secretary. He said it is aiding the state's industries, coöperating with recreational programs at Illinois training camps, and assisting in the sale of preparedness bonds.

German Anti-Aircraft Gun Crews Claim 2,500 Planes

BERLIN, Aug. 8. — DNB, official news agency, tonight announced that German anti-aircraft batteries so far have shot down 2,500 enemy airplanes. This total is thought to include all planes shot down since Sept. 1, 1939, when Germany invaded Poland.

M. Dick Kahlow of Mayville, Wis., former Marquette university football player, read the story, determined to meet the author and did, with the matrimonial result. Kahlow is completing a course as commercial flying instructor on Staten Island.

WARN OF SPEED TRAPS IN PARKS AND SUBURBS

Club Advises Drivers to Fight Charges.

The Chicago Motor club yesterday renewed its advice to motorists who have been intimidated or roughly treated by speed cops in the Chicago area to send their complaints to the club. Officials asserted that proper action will be sought to correct the abuses.

The Motor club officials acted after complaints had been received by THE TRIBUNE that motorists are being held up by police in the suburbs, on county and state roads and by park police on the west side.

Will Probe Complaints.

The Motor club issued the following statement:

"Motorists who have been intimidated or abused by police anywhere in the Chicago area or outlying districts are asked to write to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE or to the bureau of inquiry of the Chicago Motor club. These complaints will be investigated and the proper action sought."

It was stated that motorists hesitate to protest because they fear that they will be subjected to further annoyances. They usually write or make telephone calls, but refuse to reveal their identities.

Improper Attitude.

Motor club officials said that this attitude on the part of the automobile driver is not the proper one, and that if any abuses are to be corrected the motorist must coöperate.

Motorists have complained that they have been stopped by policemen in the suburbs and also in the west parks while they were driving at the speed fixed for the area. Several reported that they found it easier to pay off on the spot than be arrested. They believed, however, that they had not exceeded the speed limit.

Other motorists have made complaints of being shaken down by police on county and state roads.

Break Up Speed Traps.

The Chicago Motor club has been instrumental in breaking up speed traps near Chicago and correcting many abuses which have been detrimental to drivers. In the last five years the club's action has caused more than a score of speed traps to be abolished.

Two of the more notorious speed traps wiped out in the last few years were in Dixmoor, south of the city, and in Stone Park, North avenue and Mannheim road. Charles Special, president of the Dixmoor village board, and two officials were sent to jail for a year for their part in the operation of the speed trap.

BRITONS BELIEVE U.S. NEARER WAR NOW THAN EVER

100% Participation Urged in Meeting Jap Crisis.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 9 [Saturday].—Whatever is happening in British-American relations, the conviction appears to be growing here that the United States is nearer direct involvement in the war than it has been at any time since the conflict broke out.

Altho no official announcement has been made regarding steps to be taken in the event of a Japanese attack on Thailand [Siam], the menace in the far eastern situation is being emphasized by the press. Editorials stress the view that America must participate 100 per cent.

"Full Coöperation" Urged.

The Labor organ, the Daily Herald, warns this morning that "both Britain and America have to be prepared to face new Japanese aggression." It states:

"Between London and Washington there has to be not merely complete agreement on the general lines of policy, but a precise and perfect understanding as to the action—military, naval, economic, and diplomatic—to be taken in each possible contingency.

"Full Anglo-American coöperation in detail as well as in principle is the best guarantee of peace in the far east."

"Time for Diplomacy Over."

The News-Chronicle, discounting the efficacy of the warnings to Japan by American Secretary of State Cordell Hull and British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden, declares that "it is time that the language of diplomacy was discarded and Tokio told in plain Japanese that any incursion into Thailand will mean immediate war."

If Japan comes into the war, The Daily Mail says, "the Pacific ocean will become the region of operations vital to the whole British empire and, we may add, to America."

BEST STATESMAN IS STALIN, F. D. R. NEXT, SAYS SHAW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The greatest statesman in the world, according to George Bernard Shaw, is the Russian dictator, Josef Stalin. Second to him, in the dramatist's estimation, is President Roosevelt. This was disclosed tonight with publication of a letter in which Shaw turned down an invitation to address the Warrington branch of the People's Convention on Sunday.

Speaking of Stalin, Shaw wrote:

"When I met him in 1941 I knew that I was face to face with the ablest statesman in Europe and the personal impression he made on me did not change my opinion. I still rank Stalin first, Roosevelt second, and the rest nowhere."

Wife of N.U. Medical Teacher Asks Divorce

Mrs. Nancy H. Barker, 38 years old, filed a bill for divorce yesterday in Superior court, charging that her husband, Dr. M. Herbert Barker, assistant professor of medicine at Northwestern university, deserted her March 5, 1940. She said she was left in the home at 1401 Astor street containing 13 rooms and five baths which William Wrigley Jr. formerly owned and Dr. Barker purchased in 1938. The Barkers were married March 3, 1928, and have one child, Nancy Marion, 8.

Japanese Cry, 'Smash Hostile Encirclement'; U. S. Accused

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Aug. 8.—The Japanese press today demanded the smashing of the "encirclement front of hostile powers" a few hours after a government spokesman for the first time had openly and officially accused the United States of plotting such a movement.

The charge had been made by Koh Ishii, spokesman for the board of information. He had said that the United States, Great Britain, China, and the Dutch East Indies were conspiring to bring about the political, economic, and military encirclement of Japan by means of trade embargoes and troop threats.

Fighting Spirit Is Cited.

As one, the press asserted that no combination of powers should be allowed to stand in the way of Japan's destiny. The newspaper Hochi sounded the keynote thus:

"The Japanese people have endured hardships in the form of food shortages and lack of materials for some time, but have not lost their fighting spirit. They are aflame with the spirit of defiance and readiness to repel any attempt to frustrate Japan's national policy. The encirclement front of hostile powers must be smashed. The time is approaching, second by second, when we must put the welling force to test."

Thailand Intimidation Charged.

The press charged that the United States has offered Thailand [Siam] arms as well as other material and moral assistance if the Thais oppose Japan. They also charged that it is becoming clear that the United States and Britain are intimidating Thailand, without whose coöperation the complete encirclement of Japan would be considered unfeasible.

Ishii, in hurling his accusation, declared, "I am compelled to say that the encirclement of Japan is going on despite the reported denial in the house of commons by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden." If such were not the case, Ishii asked, why would Great Britain proceed with such strong military preparations? He added, however, that he was not yet ready to include Russia in the ABCD [America, Britain, China, Dutch] alliance against Japan.

Public Fears U. S. Tension.

Rapidly mounting concern was expressed in all quarters over the daily increasing tension in relations with the United States. While the public does not seem especially fearful about an open break with Britain, it is alarmed as relations with America become graver, first because of the large number of Japanese in America, and second, because of the importance of carrying on American trade, even if the main items, like silk, cotton, and scrap iron are banned.

The Japanese government, it was explained, has not completely given up the hope of effecting a temporary arrangement with Washington by which some business can be conducted.

Chicago Army Flyer Dies When Plane Falls Into Gulf

Panacea, Fla., Aug. 8 (AP).—Second Lieutenant Harold R. Levinson of Dale Mabry airbase at Tallahassee was killed today when the army pursuit plane he was piloting crashed into the Gulf of Mexico. Levinson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Levinson of Chicago.

Made Own Bed: Hull

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 (AP).—The United States directed thrusts at both Japan and Germany today, asserting the Nippon empire brought on its own self-proclaimed encirclement and that the Nazi government was casting longing eyes toward the western hemisphere.

Answering official Japanese contentions that the United States, Britain, China, and the Netherlands were drawing a ring around Japan, Secretary of State Hull told a press conference there was no occasion for any law abiding and peaceful nation to become encircled.

He added that a country like Japan, if it were law abiding, was in no danger of encirclement except by itself.

He implied that the Japanese statements were considered a mere pretext for further expansion moves, possibly into Thailand. At the same time he apparently sought to leave an opportunity for Japan to improve relations and trade ties with the United States by abandoning what he has described as movements of conquest in the Pacific area.

SERVICE MOTHER GROUP OPPOSES DRAFT EXTENSION

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 8 Special].—The Service Mothers of America opposes the sending of American boys to foreign wars and extension of the draft, Mrs. Ernest N. Millholland, president pro tem of the newly formed organization, said today at a meeting in the Indiana World War memorial here.

Mrs. Millholland urged the women to send petitions to congressmen and senators protesting the two measures. She said one petition with 306 names has been sent to Washington, D. C., and that many letters have been written to congressmen and to President Roosevelt.

"Never let any one tell you we do not have the right to protest," she said. "It is our privilege to do so vigorously in an attempt to stem this terrible drift into active war.

"We are loyal Americans and devoted to our country, but we love our sons and do not believe in unnecessary sacrifices of them in wars of other countries. We would give gladly in defense of our own country, but feel we should let others fight their own wars."

She said membership in the organization is for mothers who have sons of draft age or those who soon will be called to service.

RESCUE BOATING PARTIES CAUGHT IN WIND STORM

Several small boats were disabled late last night by a sudden high wind from the northwest which churned the lake close in shore. Wilmette coast guards towed a fishing boat with 26 persons aboard to safety and soon afterward rescued a sailboat carrying five passengers. Three persons whose names were not learned were rescued by other boatmen after their sailboat had capsized off Howard street, and more were saved by beach guards after their craft had turned over off Rogers avenue.

PLAN SPEEDIER SHOPPER BUSES FOR NORTH SIDE

'Limited' Runs Will Save 15 to 20 Minutes.

A new north side express bus service to speed up riding for loop shoppers in nonrush hours will be started early next month, Benjamin Weintraub, president of the Chicago Motor Coach company, announced yesterday.

The service will be installed on route 51, the Sheridan road line, running from Howard and Paulina streets to the loop. Express buses using the Outer drive are at present operated on this linc during morning and evening rush hours, and it is now planned to extend this "limited" service thru morning and afternoon schedules for the benefit of shoppers.

Saves 15 to 20 Minutes.

The limiteds, like the present rush hour buses, will be nonstop between the Edgewater Beach hotel and Walton street—a distance of 5¾ miles. This cuts out an average of 20 to 25 stops per bus and saves riders from 15 to 20 minutes between the north side and the loop, in comparison with the local runs.

William J. Sherwood, vice president and general manager, explained that the express buses on route 51, which now leave Howard street, southbound, between 7:30 and 9 a. m., will continue to leave for the loop until noon.

North bound, the express service, now operating from the loop beween 4:20 and 6:20 p. m., also will run from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m., and will be resumed at 3 p. m.

Every Eight Minutes.

The new service will operate every eight minutes, and will be in addition to present local service on the Sheridan road line, which runs each four minutes in daytime nonrush periods.

Sherwood said the shoppers' express run will take about 40 minutes from Howard and Paulina to Madison street and Michigan avenue, compared with 58 to 60 minutes for the same trip on local buses.

The limited service on route 51 was started by the coach company in 1933 with seven round trips a day. It proved so popular with bus riders that the service has been steadily enlarged—to 62 limited round trips a day at present.

Sherwood said if the shoppers' express proves popular on route 51, a similar service will be considered for other lines. In addition, he said, the company's staff is continuing a study begun last month of the possibility of skipping each second or third stop on some lines to speed up service.

William Bibby, business agent for local 727 of the Auto Livery Chauffeurs, Taxicab Drivers and Garage Helpers' union, was convicted yesterday by a jury in the Municipal court of the goon slugging of a garage worker and union member in a dispute over payment of union dues.

William Bibby.

Judge Justin F. McCarthy set Sept. 9 for hearing on a motion for a new trial.

In 1935 Bibby was fined $100 for slugging an Oak Park florist who refused to join a drivers' union. His latest victim was Furlin Thomas, a 130 pound garage worker, who testified the 200 pound union agent "hit me while my back was turned." The assault took place May 14 in the garage at 1240 Morse avenue.

This was the union agent's second trial for the offense. A previous trial ended in a jury disagreement.

TANKER WITH 15,000 BARRELS OF GASOLINE EXPLODES; 2 MISSING

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 8 [Special].—With a blast heard for miles, the tanker Transiter blew up in the River Rouge tonight, within a mile of the Ford Motor company plant. The ship, loaded with 15,000 barrels of high-test gasoline, burst into flames immediately and burned for hours.

The 15 members of the French Canadian crew of the Transiter and two women aboard, leaped into the river after the blast. One crew member said that he saw Mrs. Alicia Tremblay, wife of the captain, slip beneath the flaming tanker. Another crew member, Roger Frechette, of Montreal, was reported missing after the others had reached shore. Two men were seriously burned. Mrs. Jeanne Caseault, wife of the chief engineer, was rescued.

LEVY TAX ON $750 INCOMES, PLEA OF MORGENTHAU

Suggests Plan to Add 800 Millions to House Bill.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—Six methods of increasing to more than 4,000 million dollars the prospective new revenue yield of the tax bill passed by the house last Monday were proposed before the senate finance committee today by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau.

Secretary Morgenthau.

Morgenthau called for further increases in the staggering rates imposed by the house bill, and a further broadening of the individual income tax base to increase the number of income tax payers from 7½ million this year to approximately 13 million next year.

The treasury secretary advocated lowering the personal exemption for married persons from $2,000 to $1,500 and for single persons from $800 to $750.

Under Morgenthau's proposal, all single persons earning more than $14.44 a week would pay a federal income tax.

Proposes Simplified Returns.

Morgenthau proposed a simplified, optional income tax form for wage and salary incomes up to $3,000 which would enable the small taxpayer to ascertain, by glancing at a table on the back of the form, the amount of his liability.

This arbitrary schedule would allow deductions of 10 per cent from net income, which is said to approximate the deductions taken by the average small taxpayer. It is computed on the basis of personal exemptions of $750 for single persons and $1,500 for married persons, a 4 per cent normal tax and surtax rates beginning at 5 per cent on the first $2,000 of taxable income, as provided by the house bill.

In order to simplify the income tax table, incomes would be grouped in blocks of $25, with the same tax payable for all incomes within the block.

For single persons, the table shows a tax liability of $1 on incomes of $751 up to $775, the lowest bracket.

Single Person's Tax $195.

On incomes between $2,976 and $3,000, the single person's tax would be $195.

For married persons without dependents, the tax would be $1 in the bracket from $1,501 to $1,525 and $121 in the bracket from $2,976 to $3,000.

A married person with dependents could deduct $400 for each of them and then use the balance to determine his tax.

Taxpayers who preferred to do their own figuring could use the regular form, and those earning more than $3,000 would be required to.

Secretary Morgenthau proposed the following methods of boosting the revenue yield of the house bill 800 million or possibly 1,000 million dollars:

1. Lowering the personal exemptions to $750 for single persons and $1,500 for married persons.

2. Adoption of the treasury's original recommendation that corporations be required to compute their "excess profits" tax according to the so-called "invested capital" formula.

The house bill gives corporations the option of using the so-called "average earnings" formula.

Would Restore Joint Returns.

3. Requiring husbands and wives to file joint income tax returns in order to prevent "a discrimination of which many wealthy people have taken advantage by large gifts of income producing property between husband and wife." The house eliminated the compulsory joint return provision adopted by its ways and means committee at a loss of 300 million dollars in estimated revenue. Morgenthau recommended special relief from the joint return requirement for the "earned income" of husbands and wives.

4. Removal of depletion allowance privileges now granted for tax computation purposes to concerns engaged in extracting natural resources, notably oil. [For example, the owners of a natural gas pipe line now are permitted to take a depletion deduction of 5 per cent a year if it is estimated that the supply of natural gas will be exhausted in 20 years.]

5. Removal of the federal tax exemption privilege from new issues of state and local governmental securities. New issues of federal securities already are subject to federal taxation.

6. Substantial increases beyond those voted by the house in estate and gift taxes.

Seek Two-thirds of Total Budget.

In response to questions by members of the finance committee, Morgenthau said he would submit rate schedules and estimates in the six enumerated categories to produce revenue of 800 million to 1,000 million dollars above the 3,236 million dollars estimated as the new revenue yield of the house bill. He also agreed to produce estimates to raise still another 1,000 million dollars or more, or enough to raise two-thirds of the estimated total expenditures for the 1942 fiscal year by taxation.

John L. Sullivan, assistant secretary of the treasury, explained that the treasury last April asked the house ways and means committee to provide additional revenue of 3,500 million dollars in order to establish a two-thirds to one-third ratio of taxes to borrowing in financing the government's estimated expenditures for the 1942 fiscal year.

Estimates Revised Upward.

"In the last three months, the fiscal situation has undergone further change," Sullivan said. "Expenditures for the fiscal year 1942 now are estimated at 22,169 million dollars, rather than 19,000 million dollars as of April 24. Receipts from the existing revenue system, without the pending bill, are estimated at 9,402 million dollars. Thus, even with 3,500 million dollars additional revenue, the revenue system still would be 1,900 million dollars short of the two-thirds to one-third goal."

According to these figures, the new tax imposed by the bill would have to be boosted to 5,000 million dollars to establish the ratio of 2-3 taxes to 1-3 borrowing, but Morgenthau and Sullivan did not recommend such a stupendous increase in the tax burden.

The house bill starts the surtax at 5 per cent on the first $2,000 of taxable income and increases existing rates up to those applicable to $750,000. The treasury recommended starting the surtax at 11 per cent on the first $2,000, and this recommendation was renewed today before the senate finance committee.

Oppose $5 Tax on Cars.

Treasury officials strongly objected to the $5 use tax imposed by the house bill on every motor vehicle. Sullivan told the committee it would require at least 3,800 additional internal revenue agents to collect the tax from 32 million automobile owners, adding that the administrative cost would be $6 per $100 collected.

Sullivan explained that the present gasoline tax of 1 cent a gallon, yielding 343 million dollars, is collected by 15 internal revenue employés. He suggested that a ½ cent increase in the gasoline tax would be far more equitable than the $5 automobile use tax, which is imposed equally upon the $5,000 town car and fifth hand jalopy worth $20.

To the average motorist who travels 10,000 miles annually, he said, the $5 use tax would be equivalent to a ½ cent gasoline tax boost.

SEAWAY PROJECT IS TOSSED INTO BIG PORK BARREL

House Group Also O. K.'s Florida Ship Canal.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—The administration scheme to get the 285 million dollar St. Lawrence seaway and water power project thru congress in a colossal omnibus river and harbor pork barrel bill was approved today by the house rivers and harbors committee. The oft repudiated 200 million dollar Florida ship canal also was tossed into the barrel to get southern votes for the St. Lawrence project.

With the miscellaneous navigation and power projects aggregating 281 millions, which hitherto have been adopted by the committee, the action today brings the total of the pork barrel measure to 766 million dollars. If the committee approves other pending river and harbor developments the total outlay proposed will approximate 1,000 millions. This would be a record breaking pork barrel bill.

Both Previously Rejected.

Both the St. Lawrence seaway and the Florida ship canal have been rejected by congress when previously submitted by the administration. The St. Lawrence project failed twice in the senate when presented as a Canadian-American treaty, requiring a two-thirds vote for ratification. The second defeat was in 1934.

The Florida canal scheme was beaten several times in congress, the last time in the senate in 1939. The administration was compelled to stop work on the project after 5 million 400 thousand dollars had been expended for excavation.

The St. Lawrence bill was approved by the committee by a vote of 17 to 8, the Florida canal by 14 to 10.

Because of its failure twice in the senate as a treaty, the administration was wary of presenting the St. Lawrence project again in that form.

Termed an Agreement.

The President on June 5 last asked congress authority to construct the seaway and power works in pursuance of an agreement with Canada dated March 19, 1941. Thus the arrangement with Canada is termed an agreement, not a treaty, which it would be necessary to submit to the senate. Then the authority is sought in a bill which, while requiring passage by both houses, needs only a simple majority in each chamber instead of the two-thirds of the senate required for ratification of a treaty.

Enormous opposition developed in both houses to the St. Lawrence bill, and administration leaders reported to the President that its prospect of passage was doubtful. Thereupon it was decided to make it merely an item in an omnibus river and harbor improvement bill which will contain pork for so many members that its passage is regarded by administration leaders a foregone conclusion. President Roosevelt wrote a letter to Representative Joseph J. Mansfield [D., Tex.], chairman of the committee, approving this plan to save the St. Lawrence project by log rolling.

Urged as Preparedness Measure.

The committee recently concluded extended hearings on the St. Lawrence bill in which it was advocated as a national preparedness measure to provide power for arms industries and promote ocean shipbuilding on the Great Lakes and opposed as a wasteful expenditure on a power development that will not be completed till after this war ends.

Opposition members of the committee were loud in denunciation of the log rolling, pork barrel program for getting congressional approval of the St. Lawrence undertaking.

"The action of the majority on the rivers and harbors committee in recommending for passage the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes waterway proposal as part of an omnibus rivers bill represents an entirely indefensible effort to push thru a highly controversial measure by attaching it to a series of juicy pork barrel projects designed to capture votes," said Representative George H. Bender [R., O.], who voted against the project. "This is log rolling of the worst sort," Bender declared.

Representative Leonard W. Hall [R., N. Y.], who also voted against the project, asserted inclusion of the St. Lawrence project in the omnibus bill is "an abject confession of utter inability to justify it on grounds either of national defense needs or national economic benefit."

Charging the omnibus bill is "a national defense pork barrel bill," Hall said that "the adoption of the St. Lawrence proposal alone is unfortunate. But hooking the Florida ship canal to it makes the whole result an economic monstrosity."

Members voting for the St. Lawrence project were:

Mansfield [D., Tex.], chairman; Gavagan [D., N. Y.], Green [D., Fla.], Smith [D., Wash.], Bell [D., Mo.], Barden [D., N. C.], Rankin [D., Miss.], Boykin [D., Ala.], Voorhis [D., Cal.], Kirwan [D., O.], Maciejewski [D., Ill.], Ellis [D., Ark.], Culkin [R., N. Y.], Dondero [R., Mich.], Pittenger [R., Minn.], Angell [R., Ore.], and Johns [R., Wis.].

Voting against it were: Schulte [D., Ind.], Peterson [D., Ga.], Beiter [D., N. Y.], Carter [R., Cal.], Rodgers [R., Pa.], Bender [R., O.], Osmers [R., N. J.], and Hall [R., N. Y.].

Voting for the Florida canal were: Green, Smith, Peterson, Rankin, Boykin, Voorhis, Kirwan, Maciejewski, Ellis, Culkin, Dondero, Pittenger, Angell, and Johns.

Voting against it were: Gavagan, Schulte, Bell, Barden, Beiter, Carter, Rodgers, Bender, Osmers, and Hall.

Chairman Mansfield did not vote on the Florida bill.

THE CLEAR FACTS

In a speech to the nations of the western hemisphere on Oct. 12, 1940, President Roosevelt said:

"The clear facts have been stated over and over again. This country wants no war with any nation. This hemisphere wants no war with any nation. The American republics are determined to work in unity for peace just as we work in unity to defend ourselves from attack.

"We arm to defend ourselves. The strongest reason for this is that it is the strongest guarantee for peace."

IS PEACE IMPOSSIBLE?

Reports come out of Turkey to the New York Times that Ankara is an exchange post where the Germans are giving out tentative peace proposals which reach the British ambassador, Sir Hughe M. Knatchbull-Hugessen, from the German ambassador, Franz von Papen. They were supposed to have been offered before Germany attacked Russia and now there is a revived story that another approach has been made.

In July of last year, after the fall of France, Hitler in a speech to the reichstag made a bid for peace with the British which was instantly rejected as hypocritical. Hitler said that he felt it to be his duty to appeal once more to reason and common sense in Great Britain. "I can see no reason why this war must go on," he said. "I am grieved to think of the sacrifices it will claim."

Later that month Capt. Corpening, the Tribune correspondent, then in Berlin, sent out a report in some detail of the terms Germany was prepared to offer. This violated a rule of the Nazi information office prohibiting any discussion of peace terms by correspondents and Capt. Corpening was asked to depart. The terms as he gave them have reappeared since then and are now in the news from Ankara.

The present report is that when the war in Russia has reached a decision favorable to the Nazis, when and if it does, Hitler will offer terms which will not touch the British empire in any particular. He will be willing to withdraw the Nazi forces from Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands, Belgium, and France. Italy would recover Ethiopia and Libya and would receive French Tunisia. Poland would be reëstablished, Bohemia made semiautonomous, and Jugo-Slavia and Greece established as semi-independent states. A preliminary along these lines is said to have gone forward to the British government thru American sources.

Some of the reports may be of a speculative nature, but informed persons believe that the approach is authentic and that Germany's ideas are stated with considerable accuracy. The outline offers no complete fulfilment of Germany's proposed new order in Europe, but its relation with the other states—after military occupation had ceased—is not dwelt upon.

The British view of the war has been that peace with the Nazis is impossible. That has been echoed in Washington by Mr. Roosevelt. He has repeated Mr. Churchill's declarations with as much finality as if he were the commander in chief of millions of American soldiers fighting in Europe. But none of the last ditch warriors finds an alternative to a negotiated peace. They can merely denounce such a peace as fraudulent in its origin, deceptive in its purposes, and designed to complete Hitler's conquest of the world. This is extravagant thinking, in spite of the Fuehrer's demonstrated double dealing and untrustworthiness.

If the Russians soften the Germans to the point where they seem to be ripe for a final push, Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt may be determined to deal the decisive blow and take the responsibility of policing Europe indefinitely. If no such weakening occurs, nothing is in prospect, as everybody now admits, except virtually interminable war, the consequences of which to everybody will become more apparent as time goes on. A thoughtless rejection of any peace of any kind which could be offered before the world has gone into its last staggers is not wise.

The British are fighting for the preservation of their country and their empire. Our war party is supposed to be principally engaged for the same result. There are decorations to these war purposes. Mr. Roosevelt's four freedoms everywhere in the world are a part of that, a part which analysis reveals as meaningless. This war will not establish the four freedoms everywhere in the world and any one who thinks about it knows that it is nonsense to make any such pretenses of war objectives.

Great Britain and the empire have not been seriously injured. Continental Europe is covered with wreckage from which it will recover with difficulty, even if there should be an early peace. Great Britain's recovery would be rapid. The signing of a peace treaty would find it unimpaired. Its strength has not been sapped and it would go back to peacetime life without any deep injuries.

If the countries which were invaded because of their association with England were evacuated, England has no obligation to fight on. England has little more reason or right to try to dominate the continent of Europe than we have, and we have professed many times our doctrine of aloofness from foreign power politics. The statement that Hitler seeks a peace merely as a lull in the fighting so that he may reorganize his resources, soothe his opponents into a false security, and then spring upon them again may be a guess at a purpose.

The peace might be one of armed watchfulness, but surely the resources of the British would be equal to that, and our defense program need not stop with the end of fighting. The armed watchfulness might impose burdens upon people, but they will be nothing like the burdens of an interminable war of no foreseeable results. The Hitler régime will not stride forward constantly. It has weaknesses which we think our system avoids.

For the American government to throw its influence against peace at this time would be a crime against the country. Any suggestion that we have an obligation to interfere in European or Asiatic affairs is a base betrayal of this nation and especially of its young men.

BROTHER-BY-ADOPTION VOGEL.

Brother William Green and the vice presidents of the American Federation of Labor could hardly have chosen a more fortunate time to hold their executive council meeting in Chicago. In between the weighing of weighty problems they have a rare opportunity to learn a great many things about the labor movement.

By venturing only a few blocks from the Drake hotel they can interview chain store clerks on the blessings of unionism as conferred by Brother Max Caldwell, the former Capone roustabout. Or, if their fancy turns to lighter things, they can tour the taverns of the Wilson avenue district and observe Brother Michael Boyle's brawny boys safeguarding their old pal, Eddie Vogel, from technological unemployment.

Brother Boyle, the bridge hoister, is probably as well known to the magnificoes of the AFL as he is to the citizens of Chicago. He has been a whited sepulcher around these parts for so long that in recent years he has sometimes been taken for a civic monument, but he remains an outstanding proof of the fact that one may become hoary without becoming respectable.

In the event that the vice presidents don't know about Eddie Vogel, they can inquire of Brother Vice President George Browne—assuming that Brother Browne is so indelicate as to take his seat at their deliberations. Eddie is a vice president himself—in the Nitti gang—and Brother Browne is extensively acquainted in that circle. A couple of Nitti's other vice presidents—Brother Nick Circella, the retired [by the state's attorney] stickup man, and Brother Willie Bioff, the retired [for six months] pander—run Brother Browne's union for him.

Brother-by-Adoption Vogel is in the slot machine and juke box racket. The juke boxes are legal and, unless you are trying to get some sleep in the neighborhood, respectable and harmless. Recently the Vogel juke boxes in the Wilson avenue district ran into competition. A rival concern, reputedly sponsored by a couple of ward committeemen, is piping music into the taverns by telephone. A pleasant voiced young lady at the other end of the line starts the record going and dedicates the tune to the gentleman's lady friend—all for a nickel.

The Vogel business began to fall off at an alarming rate, but Brother Boyle has fixed that up. His boys are touring the taverns, pulling the plugs on the rival jukes, and assuring the tavernkeepers that they are sure the establishment doesn't want to be unfair to organized labor. Most of the tavernkeepers are giving in without even asking when Brother-by-Adoption Vogel took out his AFL card.

The police in the Summerdale and Town Hall districts seem blissfully unaware that this is going on. They may be anxious not to be unfair to organized labor, but it is more likely that they are determined not to be unfair to Eddie Vogel.

To skip back to the Drake hotel, if the gentlemen quartered there will extend their evening jaunts beyond the Camelia room and Brother Circella's nearby clip joint, they will find several hundred thousand honest, hard working, and fairly smart members of AFL unions living in this city. Those members no doubt would be delighted to have the gentlemen who assume the privilege of speaking for organized labor speak a piece on Brother Caldwell, Brother Boyle, Brother Browne, Brother Circella, Brother Bioff, and perhaps even on Brother-by-Adoption Vogel.

And then follow their words with a little action.

NYLON PROSPECTS.

About nine out of every ten pounds of the silk that has been barred to manufacturers for civilian uses in this country went into hose for men and women. If military priorities do not prevent the necessary extension of nylon plants, it is probable that a continuation of the ban on silk for any length of time will give women the nylon habit and destroy virtually the whole of the market for silk in the United States.

That would almost certainly have come about within the next 10 or 15 years, anyway, without the stimulation of the silk shortage. The speedup of the process will probably not be viewed with unmixed joy by either the du Pont corporation, which makes nylon, or by the ladies who wear nylon hose.

We have it on good authority [from the distaff department] that while nylon hose have certain advantages, durability in particular, over silk, the artificial fiber in its present form is still inferior to silk in other respects. While nylon has greater tensile strength than silk, its elasticity is less. In consequence it does not cling to the leg as closely as silk hose, a most important consideration to the ladies. In this respect, it may be noted, nylon is a vast improvement over rayon. The reason that fiber, which has virtually ousted silk from the field of all but the highest priced dress fabrics, has never had much success in the hosiery field is that rayon hose fit like flour sacks after their first washing.

The defect in nylon is almost surely one that can be corrected by further research. If nylon manufacture is vastly expanded on the basis of present processes, the process will tend to become set and the customers may not get the benefit of further research for a number of years.

Since nylon is a new product it would also be to the advantage of the manufacturer to expand plants slowly until further research had demonstrated that no further refinements of the process, permitting cost reductions, were in sight. Rapid expansion at this time will tend to freeze present production methods and thus destroy the opportunity for technical economies.

These same considerations apply to synthetic rubber. Eventually, in all probability, the synthetic product will replace the natural one. The longer the United States can delay the transition, by accumulating as large a national stock pile of natural rubber as is possible, the better and cheaper will the synthetic product be when we do start using it.

MR. PEPYS STARTS A GARDEN.

8th August—Since the town seems vacant, with little to see except the places where famous buildings are being demolished, have taken up gardening, altho I do not own an inch of land to till. But the philosopher Voltaire says, "Cultivate your garden," so I am rearing a collection of cactus plants, each hardly bigger than my thumb, in a large soup bowl set upon a window sill, where it can catch the sun.

In the southwestern regions, where my holidays were spent, cactus collections are a great hobby, especially in Los Angeles, where the rearing of uncanny vegetable growths is a civic duty. On the streets there you can see signs saying, "Cacti and succulents for sale," which amused me because I thought succulents were tasty foods until I found this is a name for silly-looking cactuses without thorns. So I bought for $1 a box containing 19 different kinds of cactuses and carried them over deserts and mountains for two weeks. They smelled over-ripe when I got home, but I planted them in the aforesaid soup bowl and behold, 15 of them are doing well.

When I crossed the frontiers of states I would be halted by agriculture inspectors who said sternly, "Have you got any Japanese beetles, tussock moths, Hessian flies, apple cores, or other edible fruits?" and I would tremble and answer, "No, but I have some cactuses and succulents all wrapped up in a candy box." Then to my surprise they would pass me as innocent.

At my club the other day I suggested decorating the terraces with plants, but the house committee scoffed and said nothing would grow in the flaming sunlight. "Nonsense," I replied. "A border of cactuses around the railing would flourish mightily, and we could get strange species, and become famous as cactus collectors, and people would come from miles around to see them."

"O, Mr. Pepys," the house committee exclaimed. "Cactuses! Think of the Friday night dancing parties and what would happen if somebody tipped over."

SUMMER'S LAST ROMP.

Summer's in her maddest mood—
Sea at high green swell;
Leaves in merry multitude
Flutter in her spell.

Whitecaps—whirling, spinning spray—
Top the lashing waves;
In her bondage they obey,
Summer's driven slaves.

All her listless languor lost,
She pursues her fun;
Waters will be fiercely tossed
Till the mood is run.

Autumn, autumn stalking near
Wants the wanton's head.
Hold this hoyden summer dear!
She will soon be dead.

The Month of Bronze.

August yields abundant golden sunshine, but some of her most effective color work is done in bronze. Leaves of the elm and of other trees mix this rich hue with their green and scatter it upon the grass. Bronzed human bodies are seen upon the beaches or outlined against the deep blue of the summer sky.

There are hints of bronze in the morning and evening lights, while the noonday sun sifts bronzed beams of mellow radiance thru parks and long street vistas. Bronze and deeper gold lie over the harvest fields, and even the moon, upon arising, bathes in bronze before gaining its customary silver.

Brilliant golds, greens, reds, flaming yellows, and more delicate hues are found in August's tapestry, but the prevailing tone is bronze in this region. The color is a witness to summer's most recent benedictions and a prophecy of autumn's rich color pageantry yet to come. Newcomer.

First Football in West?

On Oct. 22, 1886, Wabash college and Franklin college played a tie game of football, 4 to 4, at Indianapolis. "This was the first game of football as we have it today, more or less, ever played in Indiana and, according to some accounts, the first ever played in the west," says "Wabash College—the First Hundred Years," by James Insley Osborne and Theodore Gregory Gronert.

Leslie's Weekly of March 5, 1887, printed a half page picture of the Wabash championship team of 1886, with an account of its great skill at the game. Little Giant.

IN A DAY OF CRISIS.

America, the shrine of pilgrim souls,
Beloved of all who value Freedom's prize,
To you the whole world lifts its eager eyes,
And you today are goal of all earth's goals.

When fearful peoples grovel on their knees
Before the new-sprung Caesars—Lords of Hate;
When panic, born of rumor, grips the State
As senile leaders utter frantic pleas,

Can one hold faith? The dark years answer No—
What can avail when reason goes astray?
But time is long, and kings have feet of clay,
And Freedom is of tyranny a foe.

America, still let your flag, unfurled,
Light every land with Freedom's cheering gleams.
Again are you the hope of human dreams—
May you not fail the need of all the world!

"Independent as a Hog on Ice": Why?

The saying [Aug. 1] probably was originally "as contented as a hog on ice." Years ago I saw in a London pub a picture of a grinning hog lying on a huge cake of ice and this legend:

"Drink our ale and you will be as contented as this hog on ice." Maxellus.

DEFLECT RHEUMATISM WITH HEALTH RESERVES.

We may well remind ourselves of the importance of accumulating reserve during the coming weeks. The colder season will make many demands upon our nest eggs.

Just what is meant by "reserve"? The term includes all the factors which help the body to function at full efficiency and which ward off disease-producing bacteria. One who has a low standard of vitality may be obliged to combat an infection—such as a common cold—a dozen times a year. Another, who is in tip-top physical condition, may suffer but two or three bouts—each persisting for but a day.

Rheumatic fever, particularly, may attack those who are lacking in resistance. Next to cancer and tuberculosis it is about our most vicious disorder. Apparently syphilis is now on the run, and the time may come when the "great white plague" can be described as a vanishing disease. Not so with rheumatism, which can follow acute tonsilitis, appearing perhaps two or three weeks later. In like fashion it can trail along after a septic sore throat. Why? Because the fighting powers have been lowered quite too far to put up a vigorous defense.

Oddly enough, the exact inciting cause is not clearly understood, altho we associate certain forms of the malevolent streptococcus with the malady. Just as damp, dark living quarters are breeders of rheumatic infection, so sunlight and the out-of-doors, with plenty of fresh air, will repel the enemy. The very fact that those who dwell in our southern states are afflicted less frequently is a clear indication that climate plays a part. Wherever throat infections predominate we will have more general disturbances.

But why so much fuss about rheumatism? You may say, "I know scores of people who have had it who have recovered and who are all right." The answer is, "Let us hope so!"

The illness has one especially distressing tendency—namely, that the heart may be injured. Many an individual who suffered an attack of acutely inflamed and swollen joints in childhood will be reminded of the episode by a failing cardiac structure in the later decades. The lesson from the experience of thousands of victims is that those who have encountered this ailment should not abuse their "pumps." Rather they should relieve them of overloads so that the normal allotment of years may be theirs.

The principal objective should be to avoid the difficulty. While it is painful and incapacitating for the time being, its after effects may be life destroying.

In order to get ready for the advent of autumn, we should seize every opportunity to cultivate more than a casual acquaintance with the great out of doors. We can find recreation in walks, where loose clothing will permit a large expanse of skin to be exposed to sunlight. Then, too, we can guard against overfatigue—"going on one's nerve."

Finally we can store up vitamins by eating more vegetables, thus filling our reservoirs. The supply will come in handy when fresh growing greens are not so readily available.

MUSCULAR DEVELOPMENT.

V. P. writes: I have heard that in bowling the muscles are pulled downward and that, in consequence, one cannot play a good game of tennis. Is this true?

REPLY.

While each type of exercise develops its own pattern of muscle response and coordination, nevertheless many athletes play numerous games with great skill. The all around expert gets that way because of training and practice—not because he has followed one sport to the exclusion of others.

FEATHER BEDS.

H. W. writes: Are feather beds healthful? They cause me to perspire and I think they are weakening.

REPLY.

O. K. if you live above the arctic circle. Otherwise, no. A firm, well tufted spring mattress is more conducive to restful slumber. Furthermore, it aids one to preserve the normal contour of the body.

PACKED IN ICE.

C. writes: What is the ice cure?

REPLY.

Hypothermia — cooling the body — has been suggested in certain phases of mental illness. No positive results have as yet been obtained. Permanent benefit in cancer has not been demonstrated.

IF THIS WERE BRITAIN.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—Col. House told the French cabinet in 1914 that the President of the United States possessed greater power than any monarch in Europe. The war swept all the monarchs away except that of Great Britain, but under the constitutional monarchy of Great Britain it would be impossible, even in time of war, for the prime minister to retain in his cabinet men as unfit and disloyal to the most fundamental interest of their country as Knox and Stimson. For such defiance of the will of the people he would be voted out of power by parliament. W. F. WILMOTH.

POLICE IN WOOLEN SHIRTS.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Why does the Chicago police department deem it necessary to have the men wear heavy woolen shirts in summer? This fact was brought to my attention the other day by the wife of one of our policemen. Her husband has been ill and the upper part of his body was covered with blisters, caused by wearing this heavy woolen shirt during the heat wave. I understand that in the winter months the men wear a plain blue cotton shirt under their coats, but this is not allowed for the summer months. When their coats are doffed, because of warm weather, they are expected to keep cool in a heavy woolen shirt. This regulation does not apply to the Chicago park district police. They are allowed to wear a blue cotton shirt. E. A. MCDERMOTT.

CITY HAS THE POWER.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—As to the letter of T. G. Fetrow about the noise made by the outboard motorboat lunatics [no mufflers]. I can advise him thusly:

It is a violation of the law to operate an outboard motor without a muffler within three miles of the shoreline.

The city of Chicago has jurisdictional police power over such violators.

Also, thanks to Dick Lyons, former Illinois legislator, the state of Illinois prohibits unmuffled cutouts on outboard motors on all Illinois lakes and rivers.

The city of Chicago can end this noise nuisance whenever it chooses to use its power to do so. HARRY ASH.

A NEW FACE IN THE SENATE.

Knox, Ind., Aug. 7.—It was no surprise to Tribune readers to note that Senator O'Daniel of Texas, fresh from the home folks, promptly told the Washington war mongers, upon casting his first vote in the senate, that he not only opposed dictators in Germany and Russia but in the United States as well.

There will be more strange faces in the house of representatives after the 1942 election than ever before.

JOHN L. MOORMAN,
402 East Lake Street.

ARE SLACKS A SOLUTION?

Chicago, Aug. 7.—With so much controversy about women's hosiery, here's a suggestion to all the working girls: Why not start the fad of wearing slacks to the office? They are neat [if worn properly]. They would cover up thin or fat legs and many other blemishes. No hose would be needed. What say you lads and lassies and all you employers? Would you approve? Yours for defense.

OFFICE WORKER.

TO JOHN RINGLING NORTH.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Hey, Mr. North, you're spoiling the public. You give them air conditioning, and now I see by THE TRIBUNE that some guy calling himself "Another Sucker" is hollering about the seats. Ask this potential "First of May" what he wants for $1.10—an overstuffed chair with a reclining back and a footstool?

There are plenty of people who appreciate the real tradition and spirit of the circus—folks like myself, for instance, who as kids carried lumber all morning for those seats "Another Sucker" complains about—so we could see the show from them that afternoon.

Tell this person to stick to the double features after this, and perhaps an occasional church picnic.

A RUBE—BUT FRIENDLY.

FIGHTS HIGH LIVING COSTS.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—If the housewives of Chicago and America would organize and reduce the consumption of milk and dairy products and others as well—products that are soaring beyond all reason—the producers would soon find that the consumer has in his own hands an invincible weapon.

A united front by all except those with small children would soon put the skids under all plans to use the present situation as an alibi to boost prices of commodities unnecessarily. FLORENCE H. MOORE.

IT'S A WOMAN'S PRIVILEGE.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—A couple of years ago the women of the theater, some society dames and others were going to boycott Japan by wearing no more silk stockings. At that time Japan was bombing China with our oil and scrap iron.

Now Japan is actually threatening us and we are told we are very close to war with Japan, and the same women are fighting for silk hose and buying all they can pay for, speculating against a shortage.

It's a woman's privilege to change her so-called mind. L. S. W.

WHAT AMERICAN INTERESTS?

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 7.—We have been told that American interests are in danger in Europe and the far east. Well, what are these American interests? Are the big oil companies and other corporations these interests?

Does the American government own any interest in these foreign lands?

Is it a question of sacrificing human blood and human lives to protect private oil companies and other American industries? J. M. M.

FASHIONS IN THE BLEACHERS.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 7.—While at Wrigley field I sat in the bleachers with my wife, and it was disgraceful the way the men there are dressed. No shirts on, just underwear over their fat stomachs; pants rolled up to their knees. If they want the sun why shouldn't they go to the beaches, or have a policeman make them keep properly dressed? F. J. BURKE.

MORE ABOUT PEACHES.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Answer to Mrs. C. M. Clark: Listen, lady, did you ever hear of freight charges, icing charges, salt charges, and cartage to get peaches to market? Then your local merchants bring them to Elmhurst. He has to pay people every Saturday night and is entitled to make a profit, too, I hope.

AUGUST D. DORINI.

A NOTE FROM GEORGE PEEK.

Rancho Santa Fe, Cal., Aug. 5.—I have followed with a good deal of interest the position taken by your paper in connection with our foreign relations, and particularly the result of the recent poll taken.

May I add one more to the many letters which I have no doubt you have received commending your position on this subject of foreign relations. The country should be grateful to you.

GEORGE N. PEEK.

THEY WALKED OUT ON STIMSON.

Wichita, Kas., Aug. 6.—I note in the Wichita Beacon that England's parliamentarians state that they want Japan "dealt firmly with."

Of course they would like to pull us into war. Why were they not as firm as this when Stimson wanted them to back us up several years ago?

CON A. AIKMAN.

TITLE PAPERS.

Chicago, July 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. In view of the fact I have a contract with an owner of real estate who was an original signer in a restricted district, I would appreciate some information.

2. The Supreme court recently ruled on the illegality of the [3] lower court's ruling but did not clarify the validity of the covenant. The judge recently dismissed the case after it had been remanded to him.

4. The title and trust company will neither guarantee mortgage or title in said district for fear of future litigation.

5. Will the restrictive clause, as recorded on the title company books, and inserted in every title, impair the sale of property?

6. What damages can be obtained from the sellers for the sale of such property?

7. What is the usual life of such covenants?

8. Would it be advisable to record such a contract with sellers independently of [3] our present lawyers [10] who are undecided as to the clearness of the legal ruling? B. H.

1. It is not clear whether your position is that of a seller or purchaser. The general principle would apply that real estate purchasers should have the title examined to make sure they are getting a good title.

2. Do you mean the United States Supreme court?

3. Do you mean the Illinois Supreme court? In other words, were you a party to the case arising on Chicago facts?

4. If you are in touch with the title company officials they are in a better position to explain the law in this case than we are.

5. Presumably, a principal reason for property owners to put these restrictions in their deeds is that they think it will improve the salability of the property, but if the property is in a transition neighborhood so that Negroes may prove to be the principal future market, then the restriction may prove a disadvantage rather than an advantage as far as price is concerned.

6. We do not understand your facts.

7. They commonly contain express time limits but the time would vary within wide extremes.

8. You say "such a contract," but you have given us no facts.

9. If you have a present lawyer then he is in a better position to advise you than we are.

10. See above.

AEF Is Measure's Goal, Fish Declares.

the administration. He drew a parallel between Gen. George Washington and Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, whom the administration has used as its chief defense witness in favor of the legislation at congressional hearings. Washington was "attacked and vilified" in his time, McCormack noted, and in his time "congress thought it could run the army better than the commander in chief."

Cites Marshall's Approval.

"Remember," he shouted, shaking his finger at the Republican side, "the chief of staff has recommended this legislation. We cannot oppose him without taking the responsibility. Every one knows that the Revolutionary war lasted two years longer because the Continental congress refused to heed Gen. Washington's advice."

To this, Representative Earl C. Michener [R., Mich.] replied that the original war department bill which Marshall said he favored has been entirely rewritten by the "laymen members of the committee."

Fish, who returned only a few days ago from army camp training as a reserve officer, was loudly applauded from both the floor and the galleries.

"If I were to name the leading war makers in the United States I would place Secretary Stimson at the head of the list," he declared. "Then there would be Secretary Knox, Secretaries Ickes and Wickard, and Field Marshal Harry Hopkins. These interventionists are for national unity provided it results in war.

"Congress, representing the will of over 80 per cent of the American people, is the last stronghold and safeguard against sacrificing the lives of American soldiers in AEF crusades for freedom and democracy in China, India, soviet Russia, and Africa."

Recalls Long War Prediction.

Fish reminded the house of a prediction in the senate by Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] that the draftees "will be in the army for at least five years, and maybe 10 years, and maybe a generation" while this nation engages in a bloody duel with Hitler.

"What about the jobs and families of these men?" asked Fish. "Is it fair to discriminate against them? Why is it that in Canada, which has been in the war for almost two years, conscription is limited to four months and not for overseas service? If Canada can train its troops in four months for defense, why can't we train ours in a year?"

Fish said he knows of American regiments that are doing a good job of training draftees in three months. He noted that the army is training its officers in three to six months, asserting that the training of soldiers should require much less time.

Cites Roosevelt Boys.

"The four Roosevelt boys, in defiance of the democratic principles of the draft, became officers without training," Fish continued. "But they are exceptions to the rule of no favoritism and no politics in the army.

"I take no stock in the argument that if we released our selectees at the end of a year's service it would disrupt or disorganize the army. If we cannot furnish replacements in peacetime how can we do it under war conditions when casualties may amount to 30 per cent or more?

"The continuation of the selectees for 30 months is much more likely to undermine the morale of the citizen army and cause discontent from within and bitterness from without among the boys' families who believe they have been deceived and lied to by the administration and congress.

"I propose to offer an amendment to permit the release of all married soldiers, National Guard and selectees; an amendment providing for a maximum army of two million, and an amendment to release selectees after 12 months' service provided that at the discretion of the war department no more than 45,000 selectees shall be discharged any one month."

G. O. P. to Fight Extension.

Other blows were dealt the proposed legislation by Representative Dewey Short [R., Mo.], ranking minority member of the foreign affairs committee. He served notice on proponents of the bill that the G. O. P. will lead a determined fight against the retention of the draftees beyond the one year of service required in the original selective service act.

"We know the army will not disintegrate overnight if the draftees are discharged at the end of their year's training," he asserted. "Their induction was staggered over many months and their discharge will be staggered the same way. But if we break faith with these men we will surely undermine their morale and that is more to be feared than this so-called disintegration the administration talks about."

Reveals Bargaining Program.

Short said the Republicans will not oppose the retention of the National Guardsmen, reservists, and regular enlisted men in the ranks and that the minority side will support legislation empowering the President to summon the retired personnel of the army back into service and to keep them there as long as he deems necessary.

Representative Short asserted that the United States is infinitely stronger today on land and sea and in the air than it was a year ago, both because of its own military progress and because of that of Great Britain. He told the house that the country now has an army of 1,500,000 men with 300,000 draftees yet to be called.

The controversy in the house on the resolution is expected to be the greatest test of President Roosevelt's foreign policy since the outbreak of the European war. It follows close upon the heels of a vigorous reaffirmation by house Republicans of the anti-war planks in the 1940 G. O. P. platform earlier in the week. In dealing with the same legislation, the senate yesterday adopted a compromise measure giving the administration forces their smallest margin of victory since the start of the war. This is another factor which house Democratic leaders have interpreted as a sign of trouble ahead.

Roosevelt Plea Denied.

The senate approved resolution provides for extending by 18 months the maximum service of every man in the United States army beyond the 12 months provided by the present law. The measure also added $10 per month to the salaries of draftees and enlisted personnel of the National Guard, reserves and the regular army for every month served in excess of a year and for regular army men held over their three year enlistment term. Mr. Roosevelt had asked that the men be kept in service indefinitely, to be released at his discretion.

The senate also refused to grant Mr. Roosevelt's request for the declaration of a national emergency to clothe him with dictatorial powers. The bill merely states that "the national interest is imperiled."

33d Division Troops Start March to Arkansas Today

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp Forrest, Tenn., Aug. 8.—Excitement ruled at Camp Forrest today as the 18,000 troops of the 33d division made last minute preparations for the start of their first major maneuver since they came to camp supposedly for a year of intensive training.

At 6 o'clock tomorrow morning the 65th infantry brigade and the 68th medical regiment, under command of Brig. Gen. D. S. Myers, will leave on a 525 mile march to Arkansas, scene of the field training. The 66th infantry brigade will leave Sunday morning.

Calmest Man Is Gen. Lawton.

Thruout the camp today the quiet assurance and methodical efficiency of the old regular army was missing. Instead, there was the anxiety and lack of confidence of untrained troops. Probably the calmest man in camp was Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, a veteran of the World war. He has done the best he could with the facilities at his disposal to train and organize the division in 13 weeks.

The 33d division arrived in camp 14 weeks ago with 10,000 untrained men. The first mission of the division was to produce noncommissioned officers in quantity. The division absorbed 5,000 draftees up to May 20. Since that time 3,000 more have arrived.

There are no regular army officers present as instructors. In addition the division has had to use simulated equipment because of shortages. Now the division is going on maneuvers still short 30 per cent of its needed trucks.

Here is an example of an infantry rifle company found today, and it is reported to be above average. The company has one first and one second lieutenant instead of a captain and one first and three second lieutenants. It has 166 of the prescribed 217 men.

Instead of two weapon carrying trucks it has one; 31 pistols instead of 46; 7 Garand semiautomatic rifles instead of 171, and six men unfit to march altho passed by draft medical officers. A man with a club foot was transferred out of the company last week.

Expect Smooth March.

Beside other handicaps, morale of the men has been hit hard by proposed extension of their service.

Gen. Lawton is satisfied the march will go off smoothly. Officers have reported all preparations made along the route and unit commanders have not been able to find any flaws in the basic travel orders.

All infantrymen will get two days of hiking and ride the remainder of the way. An abundance of good water and salt will be provided and rations enroute will be virtually the same as served in camp. Judging from the clothing drying in the sun today, every man will start with trip with a clean wardrobe.

STUDENT KILLED IN PLUNGE FROM LOOP BUILDING

Harold McCracken, 18 years old, 1130 East 81st place, was killed yesterday afternoon when he fell or leaped from an upper floor window of the Pittsfield building at 55 East Washington street. The body struck on a sixth floor roof. Police investigation indicated that the plunge was from an 18th floor washroom.

Harold McCracken.

Young McCracken, a graduate of Tilden Tech High school, was awarded a scholarship at the Illinois Institute of Technology and was taking a course there while working part time in a machine shop.

He was the son of David McCracken, a pressman employed by THE TRIBUNE. His relatives said the youth had been cheerful recently and had a date to go to a party with a girl friend last night.

YOUNG WOMAN ASKS $25,000 FOR A 'BEATING'

Suit for $25,000 was filed in Superior court yesterday by Miss Madge McElanie, 26 years old, of 4062 Kenmore avenue, against Robert F. Tarrant Jr., 3750 Lake Shore drive, whom she accused of beating her last Feb. 2. Attorney Earl Little, who represents Miss McElanie, said that she is a roommate of Miss Tenace Palmer. On the day Miss McElanie says Tarrant beat her, he was arrested on a charge of carrying concealed weapons after he had quarreled with a man friend of Miss Palmer's outside the apartment. Tarrant, who is 44, is the son of an official of the Felt & Tarrant Manufacturing company.

Italy to Slash Monthly Ration of 7 Ounces of Soap

ROME, Aug. 8.—The already small ration of 200 grams [7 ounces] per person per month of what passes for soap here will be reduced to 150 grams [about 5.3 ounces] Sept. 1, it was announced today. The reduction was ascribed to the seasonal shortage of fat.

ONE-TIME CHARM OF WASHINGTON ONLY A MEMORY

Succumbs to Mad Waste and War Hysteria.

more than 1,800,000 locals calls a day, an increase of 400,000 over 1940. It handles an average of 24,000 long distance calls a day, twice as many as in 1940.

The long distance calls are the pulse of Washington. Over them daily go hundreds of peremptory summons to the capitol. Those who are summoned hasten in by fast train or plane. Once here they try to find their way thru the labyrinth. They find, despite the big OPM banners of "Time is short," that once you are in Washington, time is long.

Importance Is Swallowed Up.

They also find that no matter how important they were when Washington telephoned them, no matter what their status at home, they soon slip into insignificance and anonymity here. As an OPM reception clerk said, with a curious note of pride, "The most important people in the United States can be wandering in these halls, and no one will pay any attention to them."

It is a city of seething, rapid change. Joseph P. Tumulty, White House secretary to President Wilson, once expressed it neatly. He used to lunch daily at the Shoreham, the hotel now haunted by the OPM, and so many opportunists thronged his table that he had difficulty eating. The day after Harding's inauguration, he came there alone. Not even the headwaiter recognized him.

"I knew they would forget," Tumulty observed with a degree of scorn, "but I didn't know they would forget so soon."

Red Envoy Out in Open.

This is well evidenced here now by the sudden popularity of Constantine A. Oumansky, soviet ambassador. Oumansky formerly was a dour, humble little man residing behind the formidable white marble facade of the old Pullman mansion, now the soviet embassy.

Its red velvet draperies always were drawn tightly against the capitalist world; its heavy iron grilled doors always were shut. Oumansky was wont to walk unnoted to his long, black motor to make his diplomatic calls.

Twenty-four hours after Germany declared war on Russia, long, black cars bearing the sacrosanct license plates, DPL, began to roll up to the iron grilled doors. The blinds flew open. So did the door. So did the countenance and smiling mouth of Ambassador Oumansky.

The day he drove up to the White House with two brightly caparisoned gentlemen of the Russian military mission, Lieut. Gen. Philip M. Golikoff and Engineer General Alexander Respin, in their uniforms of scarlet, blue, and olive drab, happy crowds gathered to watch and cheer and to note with possessive interest the soviet hammer and sickle embossed in gold on their visored caps.

Halifax Driven to Cover.

Lord Halifax, the tall, rangy British ambassador, long has been accustomed to such adulation. He and his wife are seen "everywhere," as the sycophantic Washington society editors phrase it, but the tall, rangy lord has drawn the line at one point. He was so stared at in church that he found his devotions imperiled and so he has shifted his daily prayers to a small, humble church near the capitol.

By the same token, the Japanese now are very unfashionable. They are seen nowhere. Yet material evidence of their fatherland is everywhere apparent, for an alarming infestation of Japanese beetles has splotched Washington's luxuriant shrubbery and trees with brown, and the Potomac has become so clogged with Japanese water chestnut that its waters are being dredged.

The new Washington is a place of confusion. Many of its old landmarks have been razed to make way for new government buildings. The British, operating on the well established British theory of the effectiveness of a "good" address, occupy many of the notable old mansions, but two rather important pieces of carved marble still stand on Pennsylvania avenue. These are in front of the department of archives. Engraved on one are the words, "The past is prologue." On the other, "Study the past." But few stop to read as they hurry by thru the snarl of Washington traffic.

POWERFUL NEW AMPLIFIERS SET FOR MUSIC FETE

Tribune Engineers Test Sound Equipment.

Festival Tickets!

Tickets for the 12th Chicagoland Music Festival, to held on Saturday night, Aug. 16, in Soldiers' field, are on sale at 50 cents and $1 at THE TRIBUNE'S public service offices in Tribune Tower and at 1 South Dearborn street. All seats are reserved. Mail order checks should be sent to the Festival ticket manager, Tribune tower, and should be made payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Sound. Just what is it? To the average person it is anything he hears; anything that registers on his ear drums. But in the highly specialized work of electrical and acoustical engineers, sound means watts, loudspeaker units, decibels, and acoustical power.

For them there are varying intensities and qualities of sound. There was a conversation yesterday between Henry Mau, THE TRIBUNE'S chief electrician, and his assistant, E. Fies, who handle the amplification and loudspeakers at the Chicagoland Music Festival in Soldiers' field.

Technical Talk Translated.

It was such technical talk as would leave most laymen hanging on the ropes. But translated into everyday language it meant simply this:

The powerful new amplification system that has been perfected for use at the 12th Chicagoland Festival on Saturday night, Aug. 16, will be the best ever heard in Soldiers' field. It will employ the latest equipment for sound distribution and radically new methods of applying it. The system was worked out by Mau and his technical staff; men who have been the sound experts at every festival since the first one in 1930.

And let it be said here that sound technicians everywhere call Soldiers' field the toughest amplification problem in the country. There is its great length, 1,167 feet over all, and its width of 620 feet. The sloping tiers of seats and the absence of a roof present another problem.

A Hidden Trap.

But the greatest hazard of them is tucked away out of sight of every one—just where it can cause the most trouble. High on either side of the vast ampitheater there is a rooflike inverted trough over the twin lines of classic colonades. Each of these roofs is about 20 feet across, several feet deep, and 180 feet long.

They are sound traps of the worst kind. They catch the sound, hold it an instant, then send it crashing back across the field. There is one point in the arena where if a pistol is fired once, the rebounding echoes are like a wild west gun battle.

But there will be no trouble from this source this year. Mau and his men, by changing the position of the great metal towers on which the amplifiers are ranged, will direct the sound to go booming straight down the field, reaching the audience but missing the traps. The towers will be moved out more than 40 feet from the east and west walls of the arena to positions on either side of the festival stage.

20 Giants Tested.

In tests yesterday the 20 giant loudspeakers were set to cover every angle and curve of the vast field. These horns are equipped with 56 sound heads of the latest type. They will be fed by new high power amplifying equipment. Some of the horns will have as many as four of the new type sound heads.

To understand the practical effect of these improvements, as stated by the technicians, it is necessary to know that they measure sound in decibels. The decibel is a unit for measuring sound's intensity; not its loudness so much as its distinctness or "hearability"—if there is such a word.

The previous output of the festival's loudspeakers was 40 watts of electrical power or 38 decibels. The present acoustical output is 160 watts or 44 decibels. Since acoustical power goes up in logarithmic proportion as each decibel is added, the addition of six decibels means a 400 per cent increase in acoustical power.

BUNTE'S $470,000 CANDY FORTUNE LEFT TO WIDOW

The estimated $470,000 estate of Theodore W. Bunte, president of the Bunte Brothers Candy company, was left in trust for his widow, Anna, of 5555 Sheridan road, with a guaranteed income of $25,000 a year, it was disclosed yesterday when the will was admitted to probate by Richard P. Fredo, assistant to Probate Judge John F. O'Connell.

Upon her death half the estate will go to a son, Frederick A. Bunte, now president of the candy concern, and the remainder will be divided between two grandchildren, Harriet Anne Goss and Frederick L. Goss Jr., who live with Mrs. Bunte. Bunte died June 21 at the age of 71 in his summer home at Powers Lake, Wis.

MOTHER LOOKS ON AS SON, 14, DROWNS IN LAKE

While his mother looked on, Milton Hoffman, 14 years old, 1458 North Central Park avenue, was drowned yesterday in the lake near Navy pier. The youngster lost his balance while fishing from a small pier, and fell into the water. He was unable to swim.

Another boy was drowned last night in the pool in Davis Square park, 45th street and Marshfield avenue. He was Edward Bunczek, 5, of 4336 South Honore street. His body was accidentally found in eight feet of water by another swimmer. No one saw the Bunczek boy go down.

SOPRANO WINS S. SIDE HONORS FOR THIRD YEAR

Festival Finals Will Be Held Wednesday.

For the third straight year Harriet O'Rourke, 18 years old, was adjudged the leading coloratura soprano in the south side vocal finals for the Chicagoland Music Festival. Miss O'Rourke won her honors before a large crowd in the Shoreland hotel, 5454 South Shore drive.

Harriet O'Rourke.

Miss O'Rourke lives at 2860 East 76th street. Her parents were once a musical comedy team.

Second place in this division went to Helen Petrik, 16, of 6314 South Karlov avenue, and third place to Christine Miller, 16, of 4858 South Western avenue.

Lyric Soprano Winner.

Winner among the lyric sopranos was Iris Stothard, 19, of 1339 West Marquette road. Ethelynde Armstrong, 28, colored, 4745 Vincennes avenue, was second, and Grace Banks, 24, of 6406 Maryland avenue, was third.

In the dramatic soprano division Jacqueline Krump, 20, of 8217 South Hermitage avenue, placed first. The runner-up was Virginia Parker, 20, of 6204 Dorchester avenue, and Jeanette Poulson, 27, of 7250 Langley avenue, was third.

Loretta Prybylinski, 22, of 3000 East 80th place, was the winner in the mezzo soprano competition. Phyllis Williams, 34, of 5621 South Rockwell street, was second, and Marion E. Hart, 25, of 7239 Eberhart avenue, was third.

Ray Drakley, 23, of 7102 Jeffery avenue, captured top honors among the bassos. He was followed by Philip Kinsman, 31, of 7441 Crandon avenue, in second place, and William E. Johnson, 34, colored, 4856 Indiana avenue, in third.

The Cook county vocal finals will be held next Wednesday evening in the Drake hotel grand ballroom.

5,000 at Park Festival.

A crowd of more than 5,000 gathered at the Jackson park bandshell during the evening for the third annual Greater South Side Music festival, a sectional preliminary to the Chicagoland Music Festival.

George McHardy, 19, of 6356 South Laflin street, who was adjudged the leading lyric tenor in the south side finals at the Shoreland hotel Thursday night, was a soloist at the Greater South Side festival. A mixed chorus of 75 voices, representing the Independent Order of Foresters, was another event on the program.

Philip Maxwell, director of the Chicagoland Music Festival, was master of ceremonies. The program was under direction of Miss Emma Rund and the affair was sponsored by the Greater South Side Four Arts league, headed by Mrs. Albion Headburg.

WOMAN, 67, PUTS ROAD CREW TO ROUT WITH A GUN

(Picture on back page.)

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 8 (AP).—Mrs. Lena Bender, 67 years old, plump and gray haired, pulled on her old calico bonnet today, took up a 12 gauge shotgun, marched out on her front lawn, and issued this ultimatum to a road widening crew:

"One more inch of land and there will be trouble."

A son-in-law offered moral support by accompanying her with a .22 caliber rifle.

The workers, bug eyed at the display of armed force, diplomatically retired farther down the highway. A deputy sheriff looked on idly from a discreet distance.

The mobilization act followed a border incident which Mrs. Bender said ended a period of watchful waiting since the widening of a roadway to Jefferson barracks, nearby army post, began two weeks ago. She claimed a grading machine chopped 18 inches off her front lawn. Basis for the complaint is an alleged plat she said was made by the county surveyor in 1907 showing the width of the road was 40 feet.

3 FIREMEN HURT BY AVALANCHE OF HOT BRICKS

An avalanche of hot bricks swept three firemen from a ladder yesterday, knocking all three to the ground, as they were fighting a fire in a two story frame building at 3579 Armitage avenue. All three were injured, one seriously.

The fire broke out in the second floor flat of David Drewett. It drove him and his family to the street, and then burst thru the roof. Lieut. Joseph Murphy and Firemen Dudley Ryder and Barney Rose of Engine Company 114, put a ladder to the side of the building and started climbing up, with Ryder in the lead.

As Ryder neared the roof edge, with Rose and Lieut. Murphy just behind him, the brick chimney of the building collapsed and fell upon all three. Ryder caught the full force of the bricks, and fell about 20 feet to the ground. His comrades also fell. They were given first aid on the spot for minor bruises, but Ryder suffered internal injuries and was taken to St. Anne's hospital. He is 44 years old, and lives at 3537 North Oak Park avenue. The fire did $3,000 damages.

35 COLLEENS VIE FOR HONORS AS IRISH DAY QUEEN

More than 35 colleens have entered the popularity contest to be held at the fifth annual Irish day, Friday, Aug. 15, in Harms park, 4207 North Western avenue. A sound meter will record the applause for each candidate from the expected crowd of about 9,000. The winner will reign as queen of the festival, which is conducted by the Irish Day Committee, Inc., with the coöperation of Chicago's Irish societies. The program will commence at 2 p. m., and Judge John J. McGoorty will be the evening speaker.

JOHN MACDONALD HAS SOLO ROLE IN FESTIVAL CHORUS

John Macdonald, noted young Chicago bass-baritone, will be the featured soloist with the Festival chorus at the 12th Chicagoland Music festival in Soldiers' field on Saturday night, Aug. 16. He will be heard in the chorus' presentation of the "Land of Hope and Glory," by Elgar. The 4,400 voices will be accompanied by the 100 piece Festival Symphony orchestra.

MORE OFFICIALS MISSING; MAY BE AT RENDEZVOUS

Talk Persists of F.D.R. Meeting Churchill.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—Imitation of the ostrich became the fashion in the national capital today as rumors persisted for a fourth day that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill had conferred at a sea rendezvous.

Officials dared not admit that they are of such insignificant caliber as not to be considered as among those present at the suspected conference.

However, the situation was somewhat complicated by the fact that every Presidential departure from the city has signaled a more or less general exodus of officials, who steal away as soon as a White House special departs, to snatch a vacation when they know they will not be summoned suddenly to the executive offices.

Other Officials Disappear.

None the less, a sufficient number of high officials continued to be absent from the capital to lend strength to suspicions that Mr. Roosevelt may be meeting Churchill during his 10 day sea vacation off the coast of New England.

Among persons reported missing today are two officials who might be called to any conference the President might hold with Churchill—and, as some capital observers suspect, Joe Stalin. They are Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles and Maj. Gen. James H. Burns, right hand man of Harry Hopkins, lend-lease administrator.

Hopkins himself is among those mysteriously missing. He has not been seen in London since his return to that city from a visit to Moscow.

High Officers Missing.

Others mysteriously absent, in addition to the heads of the two English speaking nations, are George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the army; Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, and Lieut. Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the air forces.

A dispatch from the Presidential yacht Potomac reported that President Roosevelt was enjoying an uneventful trip. Issued at the navy department here, the dispatch said:

"Cruise uneventful and weather continues fair. President spent most day working on official papers. Potomac and Calypso moved close inshore today and received fuel, water, and provisions."

There was no reference to the general position of the Potomac and its escort, the cutter Calypso.

TRIPLETS, NEAR FIRST BIRTHDAY, QUIT HOSPITAL

(Picture on back page.)

The Wallace triplets, Cecelia, Terry, and Timmy, arrived home from the hospital Wednesday, just a week before their first birthday. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Wallace, 7227 North Bell avenue, they were born prematurely on Aug. 13, 1940, in St. Joseph's hospital, Bloomington, Ill.

Cecelia, who weighed 5½ pounds at birth, was in an incubator only 24 hours, but her brothers, weighing only 3 pounds 14 ounces each, were kept in the incubator two weeks.

Wallace joined the staff of a Chicago radio station as an announcer last October, and his wife and another son, Guy Jr., who will be 3 years old Monday, have been in the city since November.

1,500 Steel Employes Go on Strike at Sterling, Ill.

Sterling, Ill., Aug. 8 [Special].—The plant of the Northwestern Steel and Wire company was shut down at 11 o'clock tonight by a strike called by the steel workers' union, Local 63, CIO, in a dispute over proposed wage scales. More than 1,500 employés were affected. Bertram MacNamara, field representative of the CIO, said the company had changed the wage arrangements from a combination hourly and tonnage basis to an hourly basis. This would mean, he indicated, a reduction of from $2 to $3 a day per employé.

OBITUARIES

F. P. Frisch, 86 years old, former Chicago artist, died Thursday in his home in Flat Rock, O., friends here learned last night. He moved to Ohio four years ago after 65 years of residence in Chicago. In the 1890's, Mr. Frisch conducted a west side art school which was attended by children of the wealthy who resided in that area when it was the fashionable residential district. He specialized in landscape paintings, and several of his Alpine mountain scenes were hung in the Art institute. He is survived by a son, David Frisch, of Elgin. Services will be held in Elgin on Monday.

Dr. Abraham B. Rhine.

Dr. Abraham B. Rhine, rabbi of Congregation House of Israel at Hot Springs, Ark., died yesterday in Michael Reese hospital after a week's illness. He was 63 years old. Dr. Rhine was a leading Jewish scholar and author and was a founder and executive secretary of the Leo N. Levi Memorial hospital in Hot Springs. ROME, Aug. 8 (AP).—Princess Maria Rose Radziwill, 77 years old, daughter of a famous Polish family who knew the aristocrats of Europe and entertained them with her letters, died here yesterday.

The princess was captured in Poland by soviet troops in 1939. Friends said she maintained a dignified bearing until "interventions of great lineage" obtained her release, then she returned to Rome and chuckled about the incident. She had lived in Rome more than 40 years.

Born Countess Branicka in Poland in 1863, she was married there in 1883 to the late Prince Georges Radziwill, who died in Vienna in 1914. Her 55 year old son, Prince Antoine of Warsaw, succeeded his father as head of the family.

Concerts, Polo, Flower Show Fill Week-End

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE can be no complaints about "dog days" this early August week-end, for the calendar is filled with any number of things to do. The final symphony concerts at Ravinia park are expected to draw the largest crowds of the season, which so far have outstripped by far the last five summers.

The Washington Park Juvenile stakes and the Sheridan handicap are featured races of the afternoon at the racing plant south and west of the city. The finals for the Suburban cup will be played at the Oakbrook Polo club tomorrow afternoon, drawing an informal audience of polo enthusiasts out Hinsdale way. And the Lake Geneva Flower show will continue to attract throngs to that Wisconsin town.

The 44th annual invitation golf tournament of the Lake Geneva Country club is making the village doubly gay. It will end today with a gay dinner-dance at the club, and the awarding of prizes.

Ravinia Festival Season Draws to Brilliant Close.

The symphony season at Ravinia is drawing to a close in a blaze of glory with a supper party for the trustees and the Ravinia Festival committees Mr. and Mrs. Max Epstein are giving in their Winnetka home after tonight's concert. Also present at the party, which is similar to one the Epsteins gave last year after the opening concert, will be Helen Traubel, the noted Wagnerian soprano, who is appearing at the park tonight and tomorrow afternoon, and Pierre Monteux, who is guest conductor with the Chicago Symphony orchestra this week. The Epstein home, situated high on the bluff overlooking the lake, is noted for one of the finest art collections in the middle west.

Tomorrow night all of the men and women who helped as sponsors or workers to make a success of the Ravinia season have been invited to a musical roundup at 8 o'clock in the park grounds. Members of the orchestra generously are offering a short program of works which never are heard during a serious symphonic season. The concert is without charge. For the convenience of those who wish to stay in the park after the afternoon concert a light buffet supper will be served between 6 and 8 o'clock at a charge of 50 cents per person.

Budapest String Quartet Takes Over Next Week.

The Budapest String quartet will give a series of four concerts next week at Ravinia.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. D. Stevenson Jr. tonight will be occupying the box her father, Percy B. Eckhart, chairman of the Ravinia association, and Mrs. Eckhart usually occupy, for Mr. Eckhart has gone to San Francisco on business. Another of their daughters, Mrs. Thomas R. Coyne, and Mr. Coyne will use the box tomorrow afternoon.

The John A. Chapmans and Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Ryerson will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Morse tonight. Mrs. Louis Eckstein's guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Nicolai Maiko, Mrs. Russell Lord and the George Voevodskys. Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Proxmire, the William Raglands [Edith Mason] and the John E. Bakers will be guests in Mrs. James O. Hinkley's box tonight.

Miss Elizabeth Morgan to Be Married Today.

This afternoon brings the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Morgan and Otto Baptist at which the bride's cousins, three pretty sub-debutante sisters, are to be the bridesmaids. They are Roxa, Mary, and Ruth Lee, daughters of Mrs. William George Lee of Astor street. The maid of honor will be Miss Mary Alice Huddle, who traveled to South America recently with the bride.

The wedding is to take place at 4:30 o'clock in the apartment of the bride's brother, John A. Morgan, and Mrs. Morgan, the Rev. Benjamin Will officiating. Alden K. Morgan will give his daughter in marriage. A reception will follow at 50 East Huron street.

Dr. Edwin Jordan will be best man for Mr. Baptist, whose mother is Mrs. Joris Jan Baptist of Groningen, Holland. The family formerly lived in Winnetka. Ushers will be Prof. Clarence T. Simon, Roy West, and Edward J. Strobel. Mr. Baptist and his bride will make their home in New York or one of its suburbs, probably Greenwich.

Miss Janet Lois Maechtle Being Married Tonight.

At 8:30 o'clock tonight in St. Mark's church, Evanston, Miss Janet Lois Maechtle, daughter of Mrs. V. Vinal Maechtle of Evanston, will become the bride of Dan Bues Dyer of Washington, D. C., son of Mrs. Herbert Dyer of Salt Lake City, who is here for the wedding. A reception will follow at the Orrington hotel.

Miss Maechtle, who will be given in marriage by her father, Dr. Everett Woods Maechtle of Tampa, Fla., will wear an heirloom lace veil that has been in the Carl Schurz family for 150 years and which was lent to her by her godmother, Mrs. George Schneider, a member of that family. Miss Gertrude Kelly will be maid of honor, and Miss Jane Dyer, sister of the bridegroom, will be a bridesmaid. The bride's god-daughter, Barbara Bennett of Henderson, Ky., will be flower girl. Reginald C. Augustine of Decatur will be best man and among the ushers will be Everett C. Maechtle, brother of the bride.

The Clinton Merricks, the George A. Paddocks, and Charles Folds, all of Evanston, are in Easton, Md., for the marriage today of Mr. and Mrs. Merrick's son, Richard Lake Merrick, and Miss Margaret Curry Chaplin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Craig Chaplain of Easton. The ceremony will take place at 5:30 o'clock in Christ church, with a reception and dinner following at the Chaplin home. Mr. Merrick and his bride will be at home in Cambridge, Mass., after a wedding trip thru New England.

Added Attraction at Lake Geneva Flower Show

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Betty Lou Schultz was one of the bevy of pretty girls who contributed to the success of the Lake Geneva flower show in Lake Geneva, Wis., yesterday by serving as a waitress at the salad luncheon. The exhibit is open to the public and will continue today and tomorrow in Horticultural hall in the Wisconsin resort.

Lake Geneva's 37th Flower Show Its Best

BY HARRIETT PRIBBLE.

Dame Fortune smiled yesterday on the Lake Geneva Garden club. All day long a bright August sun beamed over Lake Geneva, adding the final touch to make the 37th annual Lake Geneva flower show the best of the series. Horticultural hall was a mecca of gardeners and flower lovers from Chicago and southern Wisconsin, who followed the arrows to the hospitable little building on Broad street for the opening of the three day show.

It was a banner day for Mrs. William F. Petersen, president of the garden club; for Mrs. Robert Tarrant, general chairman of the show; for Mrs. Albert F. Madlener, whose flower and vegetable entries took a giant share of the blue and red ribbons, and for the gardeners from the estates around the lake who proudly brought their best squash and tomatoes to be judged.

Luncheon and tea were served on the open square lawn which centers the hall, patio style. The tables were arranged beneath a cool white canopy fringed with nautical pennants. Mrs. Earle J. Zimmerman and Mrs. Harry L. MacDonald and most of their aides on the tea committee were in fresh white gowns to match the nautical motif.

Among the pretty young girls who arrived early to serve the salad luncheon were Jane Zimmerman, a red jerkin over her white crêpe dress; Barbara Warner in red, white, and navy; Pamela Finney, Deedee Wrigley, Betty Lou and Barbara Schultz, Margaret Redeker, Jody Pope, Bunny Hettler, and Barbara Whiting.

Mrs. Charles Peace was on duty early in the fruit booth, but her daughter, Sara, missed the show. Miss Peace will be at the Square G. Ranch near Jenny Lake in the Teton mountains until Aug. 20. Another early arrival was Mrs. William P. Finney.

George Morse, supervisor of Wychwood, the lovely estate of the late Mrs. Charles L. Hutchinson, was present to describe the formation of the unusual quaking bog which he had built for the show. Made of sphagnum moss growing over a stagnant lake, the bog was complete to its pond lilies, wild cranberries, tamaracks, cardinal flowers, and birds' nests.

Mrs. William H. Emery and Mrs. S. Austin Pope supervised the arrangement of exhibits. Blue, red, yellow, and white satin ribbons were placed on the winning entries by the judges, Mrs. Warren W. Shoemaker, Mrs. Mahlon O. Bradley, and Mrs. Alfred James, before the general public was admitted.

In the large flower arrangement class, Mrs. Louis W. Schultz took first prize, Mrs. Richard G. Lydy, second; Mrs. Tarrant, third, and Miss Edith Kohlsaat, fourth.

For arrangements less than 12 inches high Mrs. Pope took first prize; Mrs. Tarrant and Mrs. Schultz, second; Mrs. Norman W. Harris, third, and Mrs. E. Perry Ellwood, fourth.

Mrs. Tarrant's stunning arrangement of exotic leaves in a wooden bowl was awarded first prize for grass arrangements, with Mrs. Zimmerman second, Mrs. Ellwood third, and Mrs. Arthur W. Wakeley fourth. Miniature ribbons went to Mrs. Lydy, Mrs. William A. Spencer, Mrs. Alfred W. Craven, Mrs. Harry Wells, and Miss Harriet Clifford in that order.

Of the youngest exhibitors, Barbara Schultz took first place for her miniature arrangement, and other ribbons went to Jane Zimmerman, Pamela Finney, Sibyl and Alma Reese, Betty Lou Schultz, Jody Pope, Marjorie Hanson, and Claire Chapin.

Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley, cool and youthful in an aqua linen dress, received congratulations for her winning table arrangement, a luncheon table laid with yellow and white cellophane mats and striking frosted glasses. The whole effect was as refreshing as a pitcher of lemonade. Mrs. Zimmerman's blue and yellow table took second place and Mrs. Spencer's Swedish arrangement, third.

From the vegetable shadow box display a saucy Carmen Miranda peered forth with an eggplant face, cabbage leaf turban, and necklace of radishes and celery. This unique entry was the work of Mrs. Norman R. Hanson. Miss Eugenia Smith was given an especial award in the same division. Prizes for fruit shadow boxes were won by Mrs. Edward White, Mrs. Wells, Miss Clifford, and Mrs. Benjamin F. Lewis.

Prize winning market baskets were entered by Mrs. Everett N. McDonnell, Mrs. A. G. Cox, Mrs. Emery, Sybil Reese, Mrs. Harry A. Wheeler, and Mrs. William N. Pelouze. Among those winning fruit and vegetable premiums were Mrs. Lawrence B. Hamlin Jr., Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, Mrs. Otto L. Schmidt, Mrs. Albert W. Harris, Mrs. McDonnell, Mrs. Simeon B. Chapin, Mrs. Wakeley, and Green Gables, the Wrigley estate.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 8.—Should a wife and husband work together in the movies? A survey of the current situation leads to the answer one might expect—some should and some shouldn't. Some married folk make it a point not to interfere with each other's professional career, while others—mostly the recently married—think it's a new kind of bliss to be working side by side.

Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, for instance, fell in love while working together in the screen version of "Too Many Girls"—and now they bemoan the fact that they never seem to get together on the screen any more, and it makes things tough. Desi is loafing while Lucille is working, and vice versa.

Among the new husband-wife screen combinations are Gene Raymond and Jeanette MacDonald, who recently finished "Smilin' Through," and Louis Hayward and Ida Lupino, who recently finished "Ladies in Retirement." Gene and Jeanette are screen lovers—by popular demand, we are solemnly assured by Metro. They were a little nervous about being screen lovers at the beginning, but soon they were so well into the swing of it that Director Frank Borzage was having to shoot what the trade calls "Protection Shots"; scenes to be substituted in case state censors should think those family embraces too hot.

Miss Lupino and Hayward, who have been married quite a long time, finally get together in "Ladies in Retirement"—but not as lovers. She's a mad killer and he's a punk thief and he pays no attention to her, being interested in Evelyn Keyes. But, at least, they worked together on the set. And it was not what they had thought it was going to be.

"I used to think it would be fun," says Ida. "Maybe because every wife is supposed to wish she could be at hubby's side during the day—to get out in the world and watch the breadwinner at work, and see the achievements he brags about when he comes home at night.

"Well! I found out Louie has an annoying habit of mumbling before he goes into a scene. Sometimes he stretches—actually goes thru contortions to snap himself into a mood. He drinks far too much pop between scenes and eats too many hot dogs. Why, you see things that make you wonder what kind of man you've been living with."

Hayward, offered a rebuttal, remarks, "how can a fellow try to take a scene away from his own wife? It cramps your style too much."

A new husband and wife team is Gregory Ratoff and Eugenie Leontovich. Ete has a top rôle in Loretta Young's "The Men in Her Life," and the English-murdering Gregory is the producer-director of the picture. They really went the whole route in being co-workers.

Mrs. W. J. Calhoun on Way Here from China; Peking Social Leader

PEKING, China, Aug. 9 [Saturday] (AP).—Mrs. W. J. Calhoun, widow of the former United States ambassador to the Manchu court and for 30 years acknowledged social leader of Peking society, left today for Shanghai to return to the United States aboard the liner President Coolidge.

She plans to make her home with her brother, William Monroe, 62 East Elm street, Chicago.

For three decades "Aunt Lucy," as Mrs. Calhoun was known in Peking foreign society, welcomed the upper crust of all foreign social circles at a cocktail hour at her classic Chinese home every Wednesday.

She had refused until recently to consider leaving this foreign city she came to call home. Even now she has left her home intact, in care of friends, expressing confidence that when present disturbances are ended she will return.

'Out of the Fog' Is Sensitive, Honest, Artistic

BY CECIL SMITH.

"Out of the Fog" presents in a sensitive and artistic manner the touching story of the lives of several simple persons along the Brooklyn water front. Adapted from Irwin Shaw's play, "The Gentle People," the motion picture version retains the honest characterization and the emotional genuineness which made the Group theater's stage production memorable three years ago.

The story focuses upon two pairs of characters, whose every day living is disturbed and almost disrupted by a heartless, chiseling young gangster [John Garfield], who describes himself as having "rocks inside." Thomas Mitchell, a tailor, and John Qualen, a chef, find nightly escape from uncongenial home life with their little boat, in which they spend peaceful hours far out on the sound, fishing and talking. Mr. Garfield, perceiving their timid and gentle natures, strongarms them into weekly contributions of five dollars, a sum representing a large share of their composite weekly income.

Meanwhile Mr. Garfield has also won Ida Lupino, Mr. Mitchell's daughter, away from straightforward and likeable Eddie Albert, and has begun to fill her mind with false thoughts of orchids and a trip to Cuba. In an unforgettable scene in a Russian steam bath, Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Qualen, driven to desperation, plot a way of eliminating Mr. Garfield's menacing presence from the scene. By sheer accident, they do not have to violate their own peaceful personalities, for fate plays a forceful part in solving the problem.

The action of "Out of the Fog" is constantly absorbing, and the dialog is beautifully and economically written, with flashes of delightful humor and with penetrating understanding of human behavior. There is not a single false note in the casting of all the rôles, large and small; this is a credit to the producers, for the least touch of artificiality could easily have destroyed the affecting and beautiful mood of this outstanding picture.

Miss Lupino plays the confused, emotional young girl with power and intensity. Mr. Garfield's young gangster is a complete and telling characterization. Mr. Mitchell possesses a deeply sympathetic quality, and Mr. Qualen's timid Scandinavian, Olaf Johnson, is affecting and believable. Eddie Albert makes a real person of the honorable young man who tries to keep Miss Lupino from her mistakes, and excellent bits are contributed by Aline MacMahon, Odette Myrtil, Leo Gorcey, and Robert Homans.

In short, this is a picture to write home about.

Sleeveless Chubby Sweater

BY JEAN MACDONALD.

A heavy, but lightweight, rope wool, which ranks as a favorite with knitters, is used to fashion this good looking sleeveless sweater, which may be created in about two days. The directions include instructions for knitting sleeves, should they be desired. The instructions are available in 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inch bust measurements.

For instructions in knitting the sleeveless chubby sweater, No. 472, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

There's more than fashion whimsey to the new college girl's accessory of a scarf with pockets. One of the surprisingly capacious pockets is filled with manicure accessories, the other gives space for comb, compact, lipstick, and money.

College girls don't like to carry purses; they dress much too casually for that. So it's a pretty safe bet that they'll like this scarf. The scarf is of a thin woolen material in three colors—bright red, navy blue, and a Scotch plaid—and when it's flung over the shoulder the pocket ends hit the waistline. It's one of those scarves you can do tricks with. Some of the school girls are intrigued with the notion of wearing it as a belt, with the pockets dangling free.

You'll find this "fitted" scarf in most of the shops. It's astonishingly inexpensive. You might keep it in mind as a going-away gift for the vacationers you want to buy a smart little present for.

Park Audience Is Charmed by Mason Voice

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Edith Mason has glorified countless operatic performances with her radiant voice, her lively musical imagination, and the simplicity and sincerity of both her musical and her stage manner. At Grant park last night these same qualities won her a series of ovations from the cordial lake front audience.

Appearing with the Chicago Opera orchestra under Dino Bigalli's direction, she encountered minor vocal difficulties in Lia's Air from Debussy's "The Prodigal Son," and the full impact of her singing was not felt by the audience until she was well into the "Il est doux, il est bon," from Massenet's "Hérodiade." Here her wonderful gift for phrasing and her ability to make music a hugely intensified speech turned the aria into a powerful piece of direct, me to you communication.

In her first encore, Tschaikowsky's "None but the Lonely Heart," she achieved certain dark and exceedingly lovely tone colorings of a type which we do not usually associate with the silvery Mason voice and which added greatly to the song's intensity.

In two excerpts from Puccini's "La Bohème," Miss Mason caught and projected perfectly the character of the trouble racked, cough racked Mimi. As the music of the "Addio" flooded out, the tattered, ingenuous little flower girl all but stood before us. Miss Mason's singing was a perfect example of that complete absorption in a character by which a great artist intuitively catches not only the obvious but also the essential, often hidden qualities of that character and puts them powerfully before an audience.

Among her other songs were "The Last Rose of Summer," which doubtless brought back to many listeners memories of the enchantment with which the Mason art can clothe even "Martha."

The purely instrumental parts of the program included the overture to Verdi's "The Force of Destiny," Strauss' tone poem, "Don Juan," and a curious piece by Svendsen called "Carnival in Paris." It is rich in strange flutterings in the strings and still stranger beeps from the wind instruments.

SYNOPSIS.

Kathleen Murray inherits an income and a home in an actors' colony in California. She goes there to live and falls in love with Hugo Lang, whose play is being produced in the local summer theater. Hugo is also in love with her, but tells her he is too poor to marry her but will be able to if his play is a success. A rich girl, Carol Keyes, is backing his production and insists that she and her current infatuation, Maurice Reed, play the lead rôles. Hugo's foster mother, Ellen Mount; Jeanie Jayson, daughter of the local hotel keeper, and Toby Allen, Kathleen's 16 year old protégé, have minor rôles. The theme of the drama is murder, and the it holds the audience tensely, Kathleen has an uncomfortable presentiment when Wilkie Stokes, another member of the colony, discusses the fascination of killing. Kathleen feels that Ellen Mount does not like her. Kathleen and Hugo are talking about the mother-in-law and financial obstacles to their marriage when Jeanie comes up and insists that she speak to Hugo alone. They drive off together and early the next morning Jeanie is found murdered in the woods and Hugo has disappeared. He is found in a secluded cabin and is arrested and tried for murder. Kathleen hires George Cassell a New York attorney, to defend him; Hugo refuses to talk, and the prosecution tries to prove Hugo had an affair with Jeanie and killed her because he wanted to marry Kathleen for her money. The verdict is guilty and he is sentenced to life imprisonment. In spite of Cassell telling Kathleen he really thinks Hugo is guilty, Kathleen believes him innocent. Cassell begs her to forget Hugo and marry him, but she refuses, and engages William Greer, a New York detective. The Monday after the murder Carol and Maurice get married, and the show goes on. In reviewing the case with Greer Kathleen remembers Stokes' odd remarks about murder and begins to be suspicious of him.

INSTALLMENT XXIV.

NEW SUSPECT.

Mr. Greer looked at Kathleen with his sombre gentle eyes.

"I can see you're too tired to think, Miss Murray. Suppose you go home now and let me have this young gentleman with the car early in the morning. There'll be gossip in the local bars. I can spend a profitable evening."

Kathleen was grateful for the suggestion, and acted on it.

"What do you think of him, Toby?" she said as they drove back to Lakes End.

"Same as you. He's not my idea of an ace detective. He looks half asleep."

"And he sounds half asleep. So unimaginative and easy going. The slow dreary way he talks. No punch—no snap.

"Mrs. Thornley and Miss Jessel!" Kathleen's voice was sharp with contempt. "Those plump cheerful old ladies! As if they could murder, torture, or scare any one stiff!"

"But Hugo himself said there was no murderer as merciless as a woman—"

Kathleen was not listening. She was thinking of Wilkie Stokes and wondering why she had not realized his obvious madness long ago.

"You sound as if you were planning something," she had said to him. His queer, sly, mad look when he had said—" maybe I am—maybe I am."

Conviction grew and grew till there was hardly a piece missing from the bizarre plot she was constructing on what she guessed of him. She ate dinner without appetite and without knowing what she ate. She heard Toby's voice and she answered him hardly aware of what she said. She could not get this new tremendous revelation out of her mind. How could he accomplish it without some one to help him? Would he risk an accomplice knowing what he did? But if any one could find a way to plan a crime to look something completely different from what it was, Wilkie Stokes could. He had a passion for it. And all those books. He must know every way there was and every variation.

The motive? What he had said it would be. The thrill of outwitting the police.

But how to get any one to see what she saw? To outwit him. To expose him in spite of his evil warped cleverness which would ever be on the watch. She was hungry for sleep, but her brain burned with conjecture. She gave herself a bad night.

Kathleen did not sleep till the small hours, so she slept late. Susan left her to wake of her own accord and when she waked Toby had already gone to Los Angeles with the car.

Her conviction that Wilkie Stokes had murdered Jeanie and implicated Hugo remained undissipated by the healthy sunlight. She dressed slowly and absent-mindedly, her attention wholly occupied with the problem of how to strike up an intimacy with him without raising suspicion. He had surely seen or felt her dislike for him. The telephone began to ring as she descended the stairs.

She reached it before Susan and picked it up.

"Is that Miss Murray's residence?" inquired Carol Keyes' curt, haughty voice.

"This is Kathleen Murray speaking."

"O, Miss Murray! Poor girl! How are you?"

The change in Carol's voice was instant and sincere. Kathleen felt moved and drawn to her, altho she wanted no such sympathy.

"I'm well, thanks. I don't despair, you see. Justice exists and time will prove he didn't do it."

Carol had no such idea, but she had sufficient tact this morning not to say what she thought.

"Indeed, I hope so for your sake. I do admire your courage. I was calling up because I wanted to speak to Toby."

"He isn't here. I'll give him a message."

"Too bad. I wanted to call a rehearsal for 12 this morning."

Kathleen had a strange impulse.

"I'm afraid he'll be out all day. But he's word perfect. Would it help if I came instead and read his lines?"

"I'll say it would. This new girl, you know. She's the trouble. Rather a slow study. It's swell of you—perfectly swell. Are you sure you don't mind?"

Kathleen realized what she meant. But why be scared of being seen and looked at if Hugo were innocent, as he certainly was? People could stare until their eyes dropped out. It would not lower her pride.

"I don't mind at all. I shall enjoy the diversion. I'll be there at 12."

She was astonished by the enthusiasm of Carol's thanks. The girl had a heart even if she did have inflated ideas about her dramatic talents. She put the telephone down with a slightly more cheerful feeling and went into the dining room. Susan heard her and brought her breakfast to the table. Already Kathleen's mind was back on the question of how to approach Wilkie Stokes.

"I heard you promising to be somewhere by 12 o'clock," said Susan. "But Toby went off at 8 with the car."

Susan's remark dropped a piece of a puzzle into place.

"Of course. Well, if I can't get some one to give me a lift, I'll start at 11 and walk."

Kathleen went into the telephone room and shut the door when she had finished her breakfast. Tingling with excitement, she looked in the telephone book for Wilkie Stokes and dialed his number. He responded sleepily, as if he were still in bed, but when she made it clear who she was, he seemed to be as flattered as he was surprised.

"I just wondered if by lucky chance you were driving into Willowdale this morning, Mr. Stokes. And if you were, if you would stop by and pick me up."

"I'll be delighted. What time did you want to go?"

"I promised to be at the Tilton Theater not later than 12."

"That suits me, Miss Murray. I'll call for you 20 minutes before."

Was she frightened? It was a hot still morning, the trees motionless and the lake like blue glass. But as she sat on the veranda reading the newspaper, the palms of her hands were damp with sweat—cold sweat—and her fingers were tipped with ice.

He was more agreeable than memory painted him. It suited him also to appear to be sorry for her, but no one could look warmly human with those cold, pale animal eyes.

She looked at his hands on the wheel as she got into his car beside him. Those long fingers with their big knuckles. They had a steely strength.

"Well, Miss Murray, this is a surprise! But I don't delude myself you arranged it for the pleasure of my company. There must be something else."

Her heart gave a sickening lurch.

"I don't see why there should be."

"I do. I'm not a vain fellow easily misled by a pretty young woman. My guess would be that you're angling for me to help you dig up some new evidence that would help friend Hugo. Or do I guess wrong?"

The method was taken out of her hands. This way seemed as good as any way. Perhaps the only way. If she underrated his cleverness, she would be stupid.

"You're right, Mr. Stokes. I need help. All that study of crime must have made you expert. And you don't believe Hugo did it, do you?"

"I don't know what to believe."

"But I thought you liked him?"

"I did. I still do. But his behavior was so very peculiar. He knew something. Why didn't he tell what he knew?"

"That's where I thought you could help me. You see—I mean with all this study of yours you might see a gleam of light that no one else could see. Together we might be able to figure something out."

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

"Tossed vegetable salad" in a menu may mean almost anything you want to make of it. Here are some of my favorite versions, all to be tossed with sharp French dressing.

TOSSED SALADS.

1. Shredded cabbage, sliced green pepper, onion rings, pieces of salmon.

2. Broken pieces of chicory, quartered tomatoes, sliced hard cooked eggs, green pepper rings.

3. Watercress, torn lettuce, crisp, thin slices of raw turnip or cauliflower, shredded crisp carrot, or carrot curls.

4. Chicory, asparagus tips, hard cooked egg, sliced radishes, onion rings.

5. Watercress, diced cucumber, whole radishes.

6. Shredded lettuce, torn romaine, watercress or spinach, broken pieces of chicory, garlic in the dressing.

7. Shredded Chinese cabbage, torn leaf lettuce or romaine, sliced radishes, quartered tomatoes, sliced cucumber, sliced green onion.

8. Shredded cabbage or Chinese cabbage, diced pineapple, diced tomato.

9. Head lettuce, shredded, green pepper rings, onion rings, thin slices or strips of pickled beet.

10. Chopped spinach, shredded head lettuce, carrot sticks, shredded red cabbage, garlic or onion in the dressing.

Women, especially business women, like to make almost an entire luncheon of a salad of this type. But they shouldn't forget, for the sake of good digestion, to include something hot in the meal. Hot rolls or a cup of hot coffee may do the trick. Hot soup or a hot pudding for dessert will be fine, too. Even on the most tropical days, all of the meal shouldn't be cold.

Mineral oil dressings are noncalorific, but usually it's better to use no dressing at all, or only a little, because it has been found that mineral oil takes vitamin A with it when it leaves the body. Vitamin A is one of the best reasons for eating these green, leafy salads.

Of course, it is possible to make a good French dressing with less than the usual amount of oil. A little sugar will remedy the more pronounced vinegariness.

Sally's Guests for Next Party Are Selected

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

There'll be another long list of party winners in the Sunday TRIBUNE, boys and girls!

Fifty boys and 50 girls have been selected as my guests at our movie party next Thursday, Aug. 14, and the fortunate youngsters who will see "The Big Store" will find their names printed in my column tomorrow. Personal invitations will be mailed to all the winners, with instructions for meeting, etc.—so if you find your name on the list, you can expect the mailman.

Some children just can't seem to remember the rules, and their letters had to be rejected. One little girl didn't mail her letter until Thursday—the very day on which the winners were selected. Another youngster wrote a very good letter, and would certainly have been a winner—but he didn't sign anything but initials, and gave no address at all. Better check your letters over carefully before you send them in, boys and girls.

That bit of advice holds good for next week's party, too—because I know that a large number of children will want to attend and I'll have lots of good letters to read.

I'll tell you all about our new party plans tomorrow, so don't miss your Sunday TRIBUNE!

Frocks for College Girls

COLLEGIATE WARDROBE IDEAS.

These two tailored dresses are designed especially for college and high school girls. At the left, a jumper model with a full, darling skirt. The bodice is snug, the shoulders cut low to allow the crisp little tailored blouse plenty of exhibition. Make the skirt of crêpe, wool, or jersey and the blouse of cotton or washable crêpe.

Right, the tried-and-true shirtwaist with 1941 lines. Notice the neat shoulder, the beautifully tailored bodice, and the moderately flared skirt. The collar contrasts. Woolens and crêpes, of course, with plaids ranking high.

Style No. 2779 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20.

Style No. 3458 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

In one sense, there is no such thing as "the right play." A play that is absolutely correct against one type of opponent may be wrong against a different type. It is this "psychological" feature of oridge, above all others, that takes it out of the class of a mere card game and places it on an intellectual basis.

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 spade | Pass | 2 clubs | Pass |
| 2 spades | Pass | 3 spades | Pass |
| 4 spades | Pass | Pass | Pass |

West opened the heart queen, then after seeing the dummy, promptly shifted to the club six. Declarer, winning in his own hand, gave deep thought to West's line of defense. One thing was certain: West had deliberately jeopardized additional heart tricks, hence must have had some reason for his club shift. Declarer had bid and rebid spades and the king had then appeared in dummy. Would not West have had to fear a solid spade suit, as well as a solid club suit, unless he himself had the spade queen? Surely, with two or three small spades, he could not have risked a shift at the second trick. The inference was overwhelming that West had the spade queen; that he hoped to win with it on a second round finesse, and then put East in with a heart for a club return and ruff.

Most declarers, I imagine, would take sufficient warning from the club shift to get out trumps in a hurry; they probably would cash the ace and king, disdaining the finesse. This particular declarer went further. Convinced that he had read West's mind correctly, he led the spade jack and, when West played low, let it ride. After that, of course, the adverse trumps were easily picked up. A heart and a diamond were discarded on dummy's clubs and the diamond finesse then tried. It lost, but this declarer had made one more trick than any other South in the room and consequently earned a "top" on the board.

Study Child's Personality on Vacation

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

You may find, if your child has become a problem, an opportunity in vacation to study him. Even if he's not a problem, you may need to know him better.

Things are more leisurely in summer, you're with the children more, and probably you see more of their friends, and of them with their friends. Leisure time like this that you may have with them is often revealing, not just of surface behavior, but of the deeper aspects of them as persons. If there have been school or play or home difficulties during the year, now is a good time to watch them. At first, just to watch, then to analyze.

Summer provides opportunities for fathers, too, to get to know their children and for children to get to know their fathers! If you are one of those men who usually spends his Saturdays and Sundays away from home or on personal interests of his own, if you always take your vacation off somewhere with several other men, try, this summer, taking your vacation with the children.

And by that I mean a vacation in which you do things together. There's nothing like that to foster the feeling of comradeship, and to disclose, too, qualities of personality and character. I know of several men who got their first real glimpses of their children thru a family vacation.

But, as we were saying, summer provides not only opportunities to enjoy your child and to get to know him better, but also to really study him.

Baby Often Is Trump Card in Marriage Game

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

"I love my husband, but his mother separated us," writes Mrs. M., a 19 year old wife. "So I won't let him see the baby. Am I right?"

Mrs. M. is young and inexperienced. In her resentment against a husband tied to his mother's apron strings, she is overlooking the easiest way out of her difficulties. She has a trump card and she doesn't play it. Her baby would argue her case for her with a thousand beguiling smiles and infant charms.

Her husband is immature, too, or he wouldn't be influenced so strongly by his mother. But responsibility for his child would help make a man of him. The instinct of parenthood is usually stronger than the love of a child for his parent. The more young Mrs. M. encourages her husband's love for his baby, the less she will have to fear from her mother-in-law.

Indeed, the baby might even break down her mother-in-law's antagonism toward her. It doesn't always work out that way, but a tactful daughter-in-law with a baby can do wonders. If a mother-in-law grows to love a grandchild, she is much more likely to accept her daughter-in-law as a daughter. Certainly the young wife, as the mother of the beloved grandchild, will have her place in the family scheme.

Velvet Gets Fashion's Nod as Fall Fabric

BY REA SEEGER.

Smart shoppers will live in velvet fabrics this fall, for the bolts of both velveteen and corduroy have rolled in and the new fall and winter colors are rating all the excitement. There are several shades of flattering green, plenty of reds, including a new mahogany tone that is particularly effective on blondes and brunets as well as the copper tops. All the high fashion shades of beige and blonde are available, as are stunning shades of old gold and the taupes, making the color range completely satisfying. The "sew your own" crowd will be delighted.

Suits, dresses, and the jacket dresses of velveteen or corduroy ready to wear out are exceptionally smooth. Huge, decorative metal buttons are splendid contrasts for these velvety fabrics to make the suits specially dress parade. Capes of fur or flattering fur pieces complete such costumes for cold weather. They are as smart without furs.

Dresses of corduroy or velveteen are usually cut like a coat dress or detailed to achieve a sleek streamline with only buttons or belt buckles for accent duty. The jacket dresses are ideal for street wear and can be worn with a blouse or as is to take the place of a dress.

Brand new corduroy coats were designed for the first college collections, but careers girls also approve such swanky models. These corduroys are slick all purpose coats that can be worn with silk crêpes as well as thin woolens. Most of them are cut with gored and flared skirts, the newest rounded shoulder line achieved with wide armhole sleeves or the dolman sleeve, and then cinched in at the waistline with a tie belt.

Neutral gray, beige, fire red, and green, together with dark street shades assure an interesting color assortment and the price tags are easy on the most limited budget. If you crave something new for your wardrobe, try either the velveteen or corduroy finds just unpacked.

AMLIE IS PICKED FOR CONGRESS BY DEMOCRATS

Republicans Name Smith in Wisconsin Primary.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Racine, Wis., Aug. 8 [Special].—Thomas R. Amlie, radical Progressive former congressman, drafted by the New Deal as its candidate for nomination for congress in the 1st Wisconsin district, was victor in the primary today over Bernard F. Magruder of Racine, in complete but unofficial returns from the district. Amlie had 3,651 votes to Magruder's 1,322. State Senator Harold Greenquist, who will compete with Amlie for Progressive votes in the election Aug. 29, was unopposed for the Progressive nomination.

In the free-for-all among seven candidates for the Republican nomination Lawrence H. Smith, Racine, former state commander of the American Legion, won the nomination with 3,882 votes. The Rev. George Cady of Kenosha was second with 2,655.

Here Is Tabulation.

Following are the unofficial totals: Democrat: Thomas R. Amlie, 3,651; B. F. Magruder, Racine, 1,322. Progressive: Kenneth Greenquist, unopposed, 1,514. Republican: Lawrence H. Smith, Racine, 3,882; the Rev. George Cady, Kenosha, 2,655; Glenn Birkett, Racine, 2,219; Richard G. Harvey, Racine, 1,289; B. M. Engebretson, Beloit, 1,078; Harvey C. Hanson, Racine, 992; Gordon Whittet, Edgerton, 126.

The special primary was to pick nominees for the vacancy caused by the death of Representative Stephen Bolles of Janesville.

The vote cast was the smallest almost in the history of an election in the district. The total Republican vote was 13,470; Democratic, 4,973, and Progressive, 1,582.

Contest of Personality.

The Republican contest was almost entirely one of personality and effort. All of the candidates opposed the President's war policy and pledged themselves to work to keep the United States out of the war.

The Republican vote was more than two to one ahead of the combined Democratic and Progressive vote and Smith's vote in the Republican column was greater than Amlie's.

Biggest Single Gift

A check for $1,004.90, proceeds from the softball game between the W-G-N All-Stars and Bob Elson's Retrievers, was presented yesterday to the Chicago Tribune Charities Free Ice and Camp Algonquin funds by Frank P. Schreiber, W-G-N manager of operations. Half of the amount will be used to buy ice for Chicago's needy; half will help defray the cost of maintaining Camp Algonquin. This represents the largest single contribution either of the funds has received. Plans are being made to present the game next year on a much more extensive scale.

The game, directed by the W-G-N publicity and special events department, was played last Thursday night before more than 2,300 spectators.

40 PLANES VISIT CHICAGO ON TOUR FOR STATE FAIR

Forty planes arrived in Chicago yesterday on the annual air tour and efficiency flight contest in connection with the Illinois State fair at Springfield. Including passengers, the mass flight carried about 150 persons.

The planes landed before noon at the Ford airport in Lansing, about five miles northeast of Chicago Heights. A two hour rest was taken for lunch, after which the group took off again. They are stopping at major Illinois cities.

Among the pilots are Miss Adelaide O'Brien of Springfield and Miss Jeanette Mayhercy of Wilmette. Among the men pilots, H. B. Langan of 506 South Wabash avenue wore shorts and a bare midriff. He argued with other pilots that if the girls can wear shorts, so can he.

SEEKS TO CHASE RACKETEER FROM BARMEN'S UNION

Sergt. Barnes Reports on J. L. Kelly's Record.

In a letter delivered personally to Edward Flore, president of the Bartenders International union, Sergt. George Barnes of the Chicago police yesterday urged the dismissal of J. Livert [St. Louis] Kelly as business manager of the organization's local 444. Barnes described Kelly, a colored racketeer, as unfit to be an officer of any union.

He also disclosed that Kelly was convicted in April by a jury in the Municipal court of beating up a member of the Negro Clerks union for refusing to purchase $2 worth of tickets for a union dance. Judge Harold P. O'Connell assessed a fine of $100, and the Appellate court has upheld this punishment.

Flore Promises to Act.

Barnes said that Flore, who is in Chicago attending the meeting of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, assured him that he intended to act against Kelly when Flore returned to the international headquarters in Cincinnati, O.

Kelly had held the business agent's post in the Negro Clerks union as a henchman of Max Caldwell, who was recently ousted from local 1248 of the Retail Clerks International Protective association. The Negro Clerks are also affiliated with the RCIPA, and Kelly has been dropped from that.

Affidavits Are Ready.

Affidavits from business men and members of the two unions, complaining of muscle methods and shakedowns by Kelly, are in the hands of Barnes and he is ready to make them available to Flore at any time. Capt. Daniel Gilbert of State's Attorney Courtney's office joined Barnes in recommending Kelly's dismissal.

The complainant in the assault case was Alvin Lamb, 3629 Vincennes avenue. He asserted that when he refused to take the dance tickets the business agent without further provocation attacked and beat him severely. The jury voted a guilty verdict after only five minutes' deliberation.

TALMADGE WARS ON NEWSPAPERS WITH ONE OF OWN

Each Employe Must Get Six Subscriptions.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 8 [Special]. — Georgia's fiery Gov. Eugene Talmadge publicly admitted today that he has declared war on the Atlanta daily newspapers and would not deny a reported "shakedown" of state employés to obtain circulation for his personal political weekly, the Statesman.

It has been rumored that the governor is planning to convert the Statesman into a daily publication.

"I'm going to get the circulation," he said at a press conference. "I've got to do something to hold down the Atlanta Journal and the Constitution. We are going to have some fun."

6 Subscriptions Per Employé.

The governor's confirmation followed disclosures at the capitol that each of the 8,000 employés of the state is to be called upon for six subscriptions at $1 each, one for himself and five for friends. That would net nearly $50,000 for the Talmadge paper.

A drive also has been made among road equipment dealers, machinery salesmen, cement and asphalt dealers, office supply firms, insurance agents and others who do business with the state to sign advertising contracts with the governor's paper.

The governor has been bitter toward the Atlanta press since the ouster of Dean Walter D. Cocking and Dr. Marvin S. Pittman from the university system of Georgia, charging that his side in the trials of the two educators was not fairly reported.

Employés Up in Arms.

State employés were up in arms when Statesman circulation blanks were distributed among them today, and some department heads were said to have refused to allow their workers to be assessed.

The educators were ousted on the governor's charges that they advocated racial co-education.

SENTENCE ACTOR TO 10 DAYS FOR DRUNKEN DRIVING

Judge Francis Borrelli in Safety court yesterday sentenced James MacKenzie, 25 years old, an actor, to 10 days in the county jail for driving while intoxicated. MacKenzie also was fined $10 for failure to have a driver's license and ordered not to drive a car for 30 days. He was arrested Tuesday while speeding on Lake Shore drive near North avenue.

Not Treated for 2½ Hours After Mishap, She Says.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 8 (AP).—Mrs. Margaret Wilson Budlong testified at a coroner's inquest today that her son, Jack Budlong, 28 years old, received no medical attention until two and a half hours after he was wounded fatally in the filming of a motion picture last week.

Budlong, heir of the late Milton J. Budlong, millionaire automobile manufacturer, died Tuesday from saber wounds in his back and abdomen suffered when he was thrown from his horse while playing in a Civil war battle scene.

Declares Horse Bucked.

Mrs. Budlong testified that her son, a horseman and a five goal polo player who took bit parts in pictures "just for the fun of it," told her afterward: "The horse bucked. I was thrown 15 or 20 feet with tremendous force."

Russ Saunders, assistant director in charge of the motion picture unit, told the coroner's jury that Erroll Flynn, star of the film, was playing the part of a leader of union cavalry which was to cut off confederate cavalry at a bridge.

"Budlong was dressed as a confederate soldier — a cavalryman," Saunders said. "He was the only one who had his sword out of his scabbard. He had not been ordered to take it out."

Could Not See Clearly.

Saunders said he was 400 yards away and could not see clearly what occurred. "He was on the way to the hospital when I got to the scene," he declared.

In addition to his mother, Budlong is survived by a sister, Frances, and by his widow, the former Verne Rogers of Richmond, Va., an expectant mother.

The jury held that Budlong's death was accidental.

MRS. SENA BAKER DIES IN IOWA.

Holland, Mich., Aug. 8 [Special].—Mrs. Sena Baker, 81 years old, former resident of this city, died yesterday at Oskaloosa, Ia. She had an interest in the Baker Lumber company of Grand Haven. Burial Monday at Grand Haven, Mich.

Boy, 2, Puts Light Cord Plug in Mouth; Killed

George J. Meyer Jr., 2 years old, was killed by electricity yesterday when he put the plug of an extension cord plugged into a light socket into his mouth in the living room of his home at 4903 Walton street. His mother, Catherine, called a neighbor, Charles Compare, 922 North Lamon avenue, who administered artificial respiration until the arrival of rescue squad No. 7. An hour's application of an inhalator failed to revive the child.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

Fighting Soil Erosion.

Aug. 8, 1941.

THE men in the vegetable garden at the Wheaton farm are able to show visitors a miniature demonstration of how erosion washes away valuable top soil from farm lands. This example of waste due to soil erosion has been brought under control now, but until the men went to work with spades, large planks, new earth, and gravel, the garden soil gradually was being washed into a little creek.

The garden is triangular in shape, with a drainage ditch running parallel to its longest border. Near the tool shed at the southwest corner of the garden the soil gradually was wearing away and being washed into the ditch. This was made evident early in the week when a five hour rain sent black soil and some gravel from the garden paths washing down into the creek.

Combating the Problem.

After this happened, the men went to work. They procured two 4 by 4 planks each 8 feet long, and staked one on top of the other at the point of erosion. Soil was piled in behind the planks and gravel used to cover the soil. Settling will take place, and as this occurs more gravel will be shoveled on the "erosion dam."

The gardeners wanted to send the weather man a special gold plated card of thanks for this week's rain because every kind of vegetable in the garden was in need of moisture. Very little drying or firing was visible among the plants, but the men were saying that such would have been the case unless a rain fell sometime during early August.

Two new vegetables, okra and sweet corn, were picked from the plot this week. Okra, a green vegetable similar in shape to a banana, is sliced and used in soup or stew. It is being grown on the farm this year for the first time.

Sweet Corn Abundant.

Altho the sweet corn is a little late in ripening, the farm families will have it on their tables all the rest of the summer unless extreme weather conditions cause trouble. The sweet corn planting was staggered this spring, so that now it varies from mature plants to sprouts only a foot out of the ground.

Turnips are the only vegetable still to be planted in the garden. They will be put into the ground during the next few days for late autumn use.

The leaf lettuce planted late in the season for fall use was not a success. It was ready to come out of the ground during the hot weather of mid-July, and evidently fired during this germination period.

BEARS BIG, BUT ALL-STARS HAVE 211 POUND LINE

One Starter Is Less Than 6 Feet Tall.

Musicians!

COLLEGE musicians and former members of the All-Star band residing in the Chicago district are invited to participate in the ceremony between halves of the College All-Americans-Chicago Bears game in Soldiers' field on Aug. 28. Musicians should write to G. Cliffe Bainum, band director, Fisk hall, Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The All-Star line, which will defend against the Chicago Bears' famous T formation Aug. 28 in Soldiers' field, will average 211 pounds. Only one of the seven linemen measures less than six feet.

Weight and height may not be all important in football but since the Bears long since have been recognized as the beef trust of the professional circuit it is just as well that the All-Americans are to have poundage to match the behemoths who will oppose them.

The All-Stars will not have a Jack Torrance, who still has difficulty getting under 300 pounds, nor will they have any one to equal Joe Stydahar, But Augie Lio of Georgetown university, weighing 230 pounds, who will start at guard, is a mighty husky youngster. Moreover, he is exactly six feet tall. Tommy O'Boyle of Gary, Ind., captain of Tulane's 1940 eleven, is the only starting lineman under the six foot mark. Tommy measures 5 feet 9¾ inches. He weighs 210 pounds.

Ends Run to Bulk, too.

It is not unusual, of course, to find extra size guards and tackles on an All-Star eleven. The good big man still can beat the good little man and the fans of the nation recognize this fact in casting their votes for All-Americans. But the starting ends, Dave Rankin of Purdue, and Ed Rucinski of Indiana, also have enough weight to throw against the famed Bears' attack on sweeping runs.

Rankin weighs 195 pounds and Rucinski scales 198 pounds. More important, theses two men possess the agility and speed necessary for their positions. Rankin earned varsity letters in track at Purdue as a hurdler and Rucinski, by a wide margin, was the fleetest of the Hoosier ends.

The starting linemen, their weights and heights, are:

ENDS—Dave Rankin, Purdue, 195 pounds, 6 feet 1¾ inches; Ed Rucinski, Indiana, 198 pounds, 6 feet 3 inches.

TACKLES—Nick Drahos, Cornell, 212 pounds, 6 feet 3 inches; Ernie Pannell, Texas A. & M., 215 pounds, 6 feet 2 inches.

GUARDS—Augie Lio, Georgetown university, 230 pounds, 6 feet; Tommy O'Boyle, Tulane, 210 pounds, 5 feet 9¾ inches.

CENTER—Rudy Mucha, University of Washington, 220 pounds, 6 feet 1½ inches.

Seven years ago the Bears were completely surprised at the sturdy defense of the collegians. Then, as now, they were prohibitive favorites to whip the All-Stars and the only interest in the inaugural game centered on the number of touchdowns Bronko Nagurski would score. The game, the Bears will recall, ended in a scoreless tie.

T Stands for Touchdowns.

The T formation, of course, had not been completely developed. With this weapon, which scored 11 touchdowns and 73 points against the Washington Redskins last December, it is almost inconceivable that the All-Stars can win. Actually, if the college boys keep the score under 73 points it will be a moral victory.

Chuck Bernard, Michigan's great center, and Mike Mikulak, Oregon full back, were the heroes of the line defense against Nagurski and his mates in 1934. With that start, the 1935 All-Stars followed with another successful defense altho they were beaten 5 to 0 on a safety and a field goal by Jack Manders. The Bears never have scored a touchdown in this series but few doubt

ALSAB, EQUIFOX TO RUN TODAY AT WASHINGTON PK.

Sabath Colt to Tune Up for Futurity.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Alsab, one of the leading contenders for national supremacy among the 2 year olds, runs today in the Washington Park Juvenile stakes. This five and a half furlong dash will be a tuneup for his appearance in next Saturday's rich futurity.

Mrs. Al Sabath's brilliant colt will share the fans' attention with Equifox, Howard Wells' candidate in the struggle for leadership in the handicap division. This son of Equipoise will run this afternoon in the Sheridan handicap at a mile and an eighth. The juvenile event carries a purse of $2,500 in added money and the race for older horses will be worth $5,000.

With the Washington Park meeting showing a steady increase of 18 per cent over last season's attendance and mutuel handle, the management has made arrangements to handle another large crowd today. If the weather remains favorable, 25,000 are expected to make the trip to the Homewood course.

Have Impressive Records.

Alsab and Equifox are products of Chicago area racing. Both have advanced steadily from local celebrities to factors of importance in the national campaign.

Alsab has swept thru the Joliet stakes at Lincoln Fields, the Primer and Hyde Park at Arlington Park, and the Mayflower at Suffolk Downs. Equifox first attracted attention by winning the Lincoln handicap at Lincoln Fields. Then he proved that this performance was no flash of brilliance by following up with a strong campaign at Arlington Park.

Alsab and Equifox are the kind of horses which appeal to the fans. Both have sensational finishing power. Equifox has been shooting the works in the last three furlongs in scoring his stake victories but Alsab has been overwhelming his opposition to such an extent that he usually has the race won by the time they reach midstretch.

Long Stretch Favors Both.

The long Washington Park stretch is expected to be thoroly to the liking of both of them. Alsab, which has drawn No. 1 position, may get crowded back along the rail on the turn which comes soon after the start of the 5½ furlong events. It will be nothing new, however, for this game youngster to find himself well back in the pack in the early stages. He has shown the ruggedness to shoulder his way thru trouble and the speed to snap thru into the clear as soon as he gets an opening.

In picking up an impost of 126 pounds, Alsab will be conceding from 9 to 14 pounds to the other juveniles in the overnight field of 16.

In the handicap, Equifox has been allotted top weight of 122 pounds. He will be coupled in the betting with R. W. McIlvain's much improved Bushwhacker and David Straus' Daily Trouble. The Dixiana farm's Sirocco, Mrs. Emil Denemark's Idle Sun, J. W. Bell's Steel Heels, and Valdina farm's Viscounty will be among Equifox's most dangerous rivals. This race also drew an overnight field of 16.

SEIXAS, PATTY REACH JUNIOR TENNIS FINAL

Philadelphian Puts Out Evert, 6-2, 7-5.

BY WILLIAM FAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Culver, Ind., Aug. 8.—The twain shall meet tomorrow morning on the tennis courts of Culver Military academy. Victor Seixas of Philadelphia, the east's representative, will be introduced to Budge Patty of the west and Los Angeles in the final round of the National Junior tennis tournament.

Seixas, seeded No. 2, advanced today by defeating third seeded Jimmy Evert of Chicago, 6-2, 7-5. Patty trounced fourth seeded Bill Vogt, another Philadelphian, 6-3, 6-0.

It was the second straight upset scored by Patty, seeded fifth, who yesterday survived three match points to beat Gardner Larned of Chicago, the favorite.

Chicagoan Fights Back.

Seixas had too much service and volley for Evert, altho the Chicagoan won the gallery in the final games by pulling up courageously from 2-5, 30-40—match point—to even at 5-5.

Evert saved the near fatal point by slamming a back hand down the line past Seixas who was waiting at the net for the kill. He fell behind again at 6-5, dropping his service in a game of many deuces. Evert rescued another match point when Seixas netted a volley at 40-30 in the final game. But Seixas obtained the advantage again. Evert put up a lob. Seixas bounced the ball out the Chicagoan's reach and the match was over.

Evert Gets Revenge.

Evert got revenge in the doubles semi-finals. He paired with Bob Smidl of River Forest, Ill., to beat Seixas and Vogt, 7-5, 4-6, 6-0.

Evert and Smidl can salvage one title for Chicago tomorrow when they meet Gardner Larned of Chicago and Robert Jake of Milwaukee, who won a bitterly fought match from Jack Ballack, Long Beach, Cal., and Irving Parker, Santa Barbara, Cal., in the other semi-final, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

Patty had the right strokes to demolish the net rushing, but not too accurate Vogt. Patty used a short circular swing. He concealed the direction of his shots until the last moment and hit with top spin that jerked the ball down quickly once it passed the net.

Patty Plays Varied Game.

All this embarrassed Vogt. He wasn't in the ball game after he led, temporarily, at 2-1. Patty varied his game with profitable net excursions of his own. His angle volleys and one particularly potent overhead drew applause.

In the boys' competition, Charley Tichenor of Indianapolis, Ind., who was seeded No. 4, almost put Bobby Falkenburg of Hollywood, Cal., the defending champion, out of action. That he failed by 6-4, 1-6, 6-0, is partially due to the psychology involved in what happened to Tichenor's first pair of long tennis pants.

Tichenor had played in shorts all week, saving his stylish longs for the semi-final gallery, but he slipped in the final game of the second set.

He fell where you might expect him to fall. The strain was too much for his trousers, which were making their first test run. He covered his—shall we say, confusion?—with borrowed shorts, but he scarcely was the same player thereafter. His heart or—more accurately—his pants no longer were in the match.

Falkenburg Faces Tuero.

Falkenburg will meet Jack Tuero of New Orleans in the finals tomorrow. Tuero, seeded No. 2, moved in opposite Falkenburg today by whipping third seeded Don Harris of Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-2.

Tichenor sustained his second loss of the day, when he teamed with Tuero against Falkenburg and Harris in the boys' doubles finals. The score was 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

Fight Decisions

At New York—Lou Salica beat Henry Hook (10, nontitle). Abe Kaufman stopped Frank Cusmano (3).

Young Paul Stops Pirates, and How!

No. 3—He starts the follow thru that dazzled the Pirates all afternoon. No. 4—He completes the rhythmic motion and it's a called strike. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Wright Smashes Two Homers as White Sox Crush Browns

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 8.—The heat mad White Sox continued the batting orgy, which previously had seen them make 61 hits in four games, with a 16 to 2 victory over the Browns today. In support of Bill Dietrich's excellent pitching, the Chicagoans made 15 hits, including two homers and a double by Taft Wright, and a three-run pinch homer by George Dickey.

Dietrich, who hasn't finished a game since May, held the Browns to four hits and one earned and one unearned run before the heat caused him to yield to Johnny Humphries in the last two innings. Humphries held the Browns hitless.

Harris Is the Victim.

The losing pitcher was Bob Harris, who held the Yankees to two hits his last time out. Harris lasted only three innings against the marauding Sox and was succeeded by George Caster, who had his troubles, too.

Wright, in continuing the streak that has made him the Sox's only .300 hitter, batted in six runs today. Runnerup to Wright was Bob Kennedy, who slashed out two singles and a triple to drive in three runs in the second, third and fourth innings. Bob also scored on Dickey's homer in the eighth inning. Other multiple hit gents were Luke Appling with a double and a single and Joe Kuhel with a pair of singles.

The Sox had 10 runs home before the Browns made their first hit and 13 across before the Brownies scored.

The first 10 Chicago runs were scored with two out, one in the second on a double by Myril Hoag and a single by Kennedy; four in the third, in which the Sox batted around after the first two batsmen had been retired, and five in the fourth, in which the entire cast again stepped to the plate.

Taft Delivers Again.

Three runs in the third were batted home on Wright's first homer, which followed singles by Kuhel and Ben Chapman, and the fourth was added on a double by Appling and a single by Kennedy. There were only two Chicago hits in the fourth, but these were nicely timed smacks, a double by Wright and a triple by Kennedy, which with three walks and an error were good for the cluster of five runs.

Singles by Dietrich and Kuhel and Wright's second homer produced three runs in the fifth.

The Browns broke into the scoring column in the fifth when Johnny Berardino doubled and got home on Caster's single. Those were the second and third hits off Dietrich. They scored their second run in the seventh on Appling's fumble of Johnny Berardino's grounder and Johnny Lucadello's single, fourth and last St. Louis hit.

Smith Faces Indians Today.

Thus the Chicagoans made it three out of four here, winning 5 to 2, 11 to 1, and 16 to 2, after Johnny Rigney had blown the opener, 9 to 6. The Sox now have won nine of a dozen matches with the Browns and will resume the series in Chicago Monday in a double header.

The teams left town together after the game, the Sox heading for Cleveland, and the Browns for Detroit. Edgar Smith will pitch against the Indians tomorrow and, if he wins, the Sox, who have won five out of their last six starts, will have a mark of 9 and 9 for the trip.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Pirates, the same fellows who have been tearing the National league apart for the last month, met up with Paul Erickson yesterday, but the 23 year old Zion City youngster wasn't what could be termed cordial. As part of his schooling on how to become a big league pitcher, the giant Swede snubbed the visitors with a one hit job to boost the Chicagoans to a 1 to 0 victory, which broke a Pirate winning streak at six games. It also was Big Paul's maiden triumph in the big show as well as the Cubs' second in their last nine.

Erickson, who last Monday fanned 10 Cardinals, but drew only a 4 to 2 spanking for his effort, cut himself down to six whiffs on this occasion. But even tho slow about getting his strikeout ball into operation, he went as far as the seventh in a no-hit rôle, the charm being broken when Bob Elliott slapped a whistling single into center with one out. Only four other Pirates survived, all on passes.

Cavarretta, Gilbert Return.

The Cubs, with a new arrangement that brought back Phil Cavarretta and Charley Gilbert, collected 10 hits and four passes off John Lanning, but found it extremely difficult to do much more than stack up stranded runners. In three of the first four innings seven reached base in one way or another, but none could get around to the plate.

The run that proved enough for Erickson started with a pass to Gilbert with one out in the fifth. Bill Nicholson, who topped the attack with three hits, doubled to left. As Gilbert neared third he pulled a charley horse in his left leg, retiring to let Dominic Dallessandro do the remainder of the running. Babe Dahlgren then fanned and Cavarretta, having produced two hits, was given a synthetic pass.

McCullough Puts It Over.

Clyde McCullough did the rest. He bounced to Arky Vaughan in deep short. Vaughan's throw to second for a forceout was wide but McCullough's effort was ruled a hit. Dallessandro scoring.

The toughest part of Erickson's job, except for the series of long fly balls which kept the Cub outfielders close to the wall much of the time, came in the first inning. He began his day's work by walking Lee Handley, who later was bunted to second. As it turned out he was the only Pirate to roam that far from the plate. Two of Erickson's other passes set up double plays. His last didn't show up until he walked Vaughan after fanning two pinch batters in the ninth. A force play on a grounder off Elliott's bat ended the party.

Hoffman's 155 Wins in State Southpaw Golf

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The three year reign of Sam Alpert of Idlewild over Illinois' golfing southpaws ended yesterday when he finished two strokes back of Harry Hoffman of Freeport for the 36 hole journey over the Edgewood Valley Country club's hills and dales. Hoffman, who drove 110 miles yesterday morning from his home town to Edgewood in order to compete, scored an 80-75 for the 155, eleven over par, that enabled him to capture the fourth annual event held for sinistral swingers by the Chicago District Golf association.

Alpert, former University of Illinois star and one time western junior champion who was runnerup in the national left handers' show last year, appeared to have his fourth consecutive championship tucked away at the 18 hole intermission with a tidy 76, but took an 81 on the second round for a final total of 157. That 81 included an eight at the 415 yard 18th, where Sam chose to dally with the trees and a trap.

The championship is Hoffman's second in the port side league, for he also holds the northern Illinois left handers' title. Thomas J. Richardson, competing unattached, was third in the field with an 84-81-165.

Harry Hoffman, Freeport, 80—75—155; Sam Alpert, Idlewild, 76—81—157; Thomas J. Richardson, unattached, 84—81—165; E. G. Goddard, Brookwood, 84—83—167; James L. Duggan, Glendale, 84—84—168; Douglas Fisher, Hollywood, 87—82—169; Jim Pheney, Lincolnshire, 83—87—170; Frank Borkovec, unattached, 79—92—171; William McGee, unattached, 85—86—171; Robert Bogner, unattached, 88—84—172; M. E. Shanahan, Itasca, 90—84—176; J. P. Horn Jr., unattached, 93—86—179; John Skala, Acacia, 92—90—182; Carl Kammeyer, Calumet, 92—91—183; Louis Calamaris, unattached, 95—91—186; A. # Bears to Head for Wisconsin Drills Today

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The champion Chicago Bears start their 1941 All-Star story today, but they don't know what the ending will be. All they know for sure is that the start will be made at 9:30 o'clock this morning, assembly time at Wrigley field, their headquarters during the National Football league season.

Less than an hour later Owner Coach George Halas hopes to be moving northward with his 44 huskies for the training camp in Delafield, Wis., where the Bears will make the best of their 18 days to prepare for a third excursion into the college All-Star game in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28.

They'll Go Right to Work.

The first workout is scheduled for 3 o'clock this afternoon on the Bears' practice grounds at St. John's Military academy. It will be mainly calisthenics and signal drill. After today the practice schedule will be stepped up with both morning and afternoon sessions, not to mention blackboard classes at night.

Halas emphasized again last night that the Bears will conduct their exercises in strict privacy. In recent years there has been no bar to visitors in the Bears' camp in Delafield, but this was because they were merely preparing for the league season and not the All-Star game.

Two Bears with Stars.

Two members of the Bears will do their training with the All-Stars in Evanston. These are Norman Standlee, full back, and Hugh Gallarneau, half back, of Stanford's Rose bowl champions. They will join the Bears after the game on the lake front.

DODGERS REGAIN LEAD AS WYATT CHECKS BRAVES

Brooklyn Pitcher Gains 15th Victory, 6-2.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 8 (AP).—The Dodgers regained first place in the National league today by beating the Boston Braves, 6 to 2, as Whitlow Wyatt pitched his 15th triumph with a six hit performance. This gave the Dodgers a .647 percentage, compared to .644 for the idle St. Louis Cardinals, altho the two rivals were tied in won and lost computation.

It was Brooklyn's seventh straight victory and the Dodgers made it decisive with a dozen hits off Jim Tobin.

Mace Brown, veteran Brooklyn relief hurler, was hit on the left ankle by a line drive off Mickey Owen's bat during batting practice before today's game. He went to the New York hospital for an X-ray examination.

Greenberg Is Promoted; Now It's Corp. Hank

Fort Custer, Mich., Aug. 8 (AP).—It's Corporal Henry Greenberg now, in charge of a five man anti-tank gun crew.

Hank Greenberg.

The erstwhile big gun of the Detroit Tigers baseball team is now responsible for the care of one of the army's 37 millimeter anti-tank guns and of the truck that hauls it and its crew into firing position.

Greenberg's promotion, his second in a month, was announced at headquarters of the second infantry regiment today. He was advanced to the grade of private first class on July 14.

Gets $33 Pay Boost.

As a corporal, the former outfielder who was last year's most valuable player in the American league, is eligible for an increase in pay from $21 to $54 a month. He can't draw this amount until after Sept. 6, however, because army regulations require a man to be in the service four months before he draws increased pay, and Greenberg was inducted on May 7.

The corporal's pay figures out to $648 annually. Before he entered the army, Corporal Greenberg would have needed almost two afternoons of baseball play to earn that amount, at his 1941 Detroit salary which was reported to be $55,000.

The reason for big Hank's promotion? It wasn't because he accompanied the Fort Custer reception center baseball team to southern Michigan prison Wednesday and then played for the prison team, hitting a home run, two doubles, and a single.

It's Solely on Merit Basis.

Capt. Glenn A. Sikes, who recommended chevrons for Hank, said tonight: "The company commander tries to pick out his best men for promotion. I gave Greenberg a chance in close order drill and in calisthenics for advancement to the grade of corporal and I thought he was doing better than anybody else."

As a corporal responsible for the anti-tank gun, its truck and five man crew, Capt. Sikes said, Greenberg will be exeused from all of the routine duties which a private performs, but as corporal he will have added responsibilities including the policing of the barracks.

10 SHOOTERS HIT 100 STRAIGHT IN SKEET TOURNEY

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 8 (AP).—Headed by defending champion Dick Shaughnessy of Dedham, Mass., 10 shooters broke 100 targets in a row today to pace a field of 305 thru the first section of the 250 clay, three day test for the national all-gauge skeet championship.

Tied with the 19 year old Shaughnessy, winner a year ago in Syracuse, N. Y., with 249 of 250 and in St. Louis in 1936 with 248, were: H. A. Montgomery of Decatur, Ill.; C. H. Poulton of San Antonio, Tex.; George Deyoe and W. W. Rapley of Washington, D. C.; Alex Kerr of Beverly Hills, Cal.; Bobby Parker of Tulsa, Okla.; L. R. Ford of Indianapolis, and Paul Slack and Jerry Decker of Detroit.

Shaughnessy, in addition to his bid for his third straight 12 gauge title, added the champion of champions crown to his list with his score of 100. That score won the shootoff for him against Bill Clark of Chicago; A. Zuggales of Indiana, Pa.; J. O. Ginter of Jacksonville, Fla., and Dr. J. Nichols of Cleveland.

Al Ormsbee of New Haven, Conn., and F. Misseldine of Sea Island, Fla., broke 100 to pace the professionals, while Grant Useng of Chicago, H. F. Ehler of San Antonio, Tex., and Defending Champion G. H. Hubbard of Indianapolis checked in with 99 each.

Mrs. M. L. Smythe of Aurora, O., who teamed with her husband to win the family crown from Shaughnessy and his brother, John, in a shootoff, led the feminine contingent with 99 of 100, a target ahead of Patricia Laursen of Akron, defending champion, and 21 year old Jane Hoffman of Lakeview, O.

M'NEILL, KOVACS GAIN SEMI-FINAL IN RYE TENNIS

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 8 (AP).—Tennis form finally found its way back into the eastern grass court tournament today as Don McNeill and Frank Kovacs won semi-final berths in the men's singles and Pauline Betz and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke advanced to the women's singles finals.

McNeill, the national champion, and Kovacs, the nation's third ranking player, easily disposed of William Talbert of Cincinnati and Ted Schroeder of Glendale, Cal. They will meet in one semi-final match tomorrow. The other will bring together Wayne Sabin and Bryan Grant, who upset Bobby Riggs and Frank Parker yesterday.

McNeil beat Talbert 7-5, 6-3. Kovacs won five games in a row before Schroeder broke thru in the first set, then overcame stubborn resistance to beat the young Californian, 6-2, 7-5.

Miss Betz narrowly escaped being upset as she eliminated third ranked Dorothy Bundy of Santa Monica, Cal., 0-6, 6-3, 8-6. Mrs. Cooke, seeded second, earned a 6-2, 6-3 victory over Mary Arnold of Los Angeles.

The women's doubles final, which will be played Sunday, will send Mrs. Cooke and Margaret Osborne of San Francisco against Miss Bundy and Miss Betz. Only one of the men's doubles final brackets was filled, Riggs and Gene Mako of Los Angeles overcoming Ed Amark of San Francisco and Robin Hippenstiel of San Bernardino, Cal., in four sets.

The defeat ended a four game losing streak for the A's. Johnson's smash climaxed a four run uprising that routed Steve Peek and wiped out a 3 to 1 Yankee lead.

Big Fish Feast on 8,700,000 Ducks Yearly

BY BOB BECKER.

Science says that the whale could not swallow Jonah and there are sportsmen who still say that northern pike or pickerel don't swallow ducklings. But down from Canada comes ample proof to substantiate the claim that the voracious pike devour ducklings by the million.

Tom Main, general manager, and E. S. Russenholt, assistant general manager of Ducks Unlimited in Canada, say that the yearly take of ducklings by northern pike or pickerel (it's a jackfish in Canada) is estimated at 8 per cent of the potential duck crop, on the average, and if anybody ought to know what happens to the ducks in the great Canadian nesting grounds these two authorities are the ones. They've been studying duck crops, living with the ducks, watching ducks hatch and learning what kills them on their nesting grounds for many years.

8,700,000 Is Year's Toll.

In 1940 Russenholt [after checking thousands of square miles of marshes and examining stomachs of hundreds of pike] believes that 8,700,000 ducklings were devoured by hungry northern pike. Last fall, legal hunters with all their guns, ammunition, retrievers, boats, decoys and other equipment killed only an estimated 9,000,000 ducks. So sportsmen today are faced with a curious situation. A fish that thousands of fishermen would like to catch is so abundant in the far north that it kills virtually as many ducks as are taken during an open hunting season in this country.

Mr. Russenholt writes as follows about the depredations of northern pike in duck waters:

"Northland marshes adjoining lakes or rivers usually are infested with jackfish or northern pike. The jacks winter in the deeper water and come into the shallow, sluggish mash waters in the spring. From a canoe, in channels three feet deep, I have counted 150 jackfish in a 30 foot circle. Imagine the slaughter among any duckling brood swimming over the spot!

Goldeneyes Duck 'Em.

"Goldeneye ducklings are most successful in evading jackfish. Mallards and canvasback ducklings are common victims of the big pike. It's a common sight, in jackfish infested waters, to see a mallard hen clucking to a single surviving offspring, the rest of the brood having become jackfish diet."

STOCKS DECLINE 1 TO 2 POINTS AS TAX FEARS GROW

Morgenthau Proposal Gets Most of Blame.

New York, Aug. 8 (AP).—Stock market leaders declined around 1 to 2 points today in the 10th successive session in which the list has been unable to progress.

Price variations were exceptionally narrow during most of the proceedings but increased selling cropped up in the final hour, particularly in oils.

Speculative uneasiness revived, brokers said, when Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau insisted before a senate committee that the present tax bill be boosted substantially and bases broadened to add 2,000,000 new taxpayers.

Dealings Pick Up Some.

Oils apparently were depressed when Morgenthau suggested removal of tax allowances now made petroleum companies for depletion of natural resources.

The Associated Press composite of 60 stocks ended with a loss of 0.2 of a point at 43.7. Of 741 issues traded, 396 closed lower, 152 up, and 193 unchanged. Dealings, sluggish most of the time, picked up near the finish and transfers totaled 553,680 shares compared with 497,120 Thursday.

Aside from the tax specter, bidders still were handicapped, brokers said, by conflicting war bulletins and fears of bearish developments in the far east.

CHICAGO PRICES EASE.

Trading on the Chicago Stock exchange was more active yesterday but prices generally were lower. Transfers totaled 30,000 shares, with 29 issues advancing, 59 declining, and 30 unchanged.

New 1941 highs were set by Brown Fence "A," 10¾; Peter Fox Brewing, 24, and Midland Utilities 6 per cent prior lien, 15, and 7 per cent prior lien, 15½. Volume leaders included Commonwealth Edison, 3,250 shares, 25¾, off ¼; Libby, McNeill & Libby, 1,850, 5⅞, unchanged; Utility & Industrial, 1,800, ⅛, up 1/16, and Swift & Co., 1,050, 25, up ¼.

Of the dually traded stocks dealt in from 2 to 2:30 o'clock, Goodyear Tire, Indianapolis Power and Light, and Marshall Field closed ¼ lower than at New York.

NATIONAL TOOL VOTES DIVIDEND, FIRST SINCE 1921

The National Tool company, Cleveland manufacturer of precision cutting tools, yesterday declared its first dividend on the common stock in more than 20 years. The 10 cent distribution will be the first since 75 cents was paid in January, 1921.

Storkline Furniture corporation, Chicago, voted an extra of 12½ cents, plus the usual quarterly payment of the same amount. Brown Fence and Wire company authorized a dividend of $1.50 on the class A stock, the first this year.

United Wall Paper Factories, Inc., Chicago, voted 10 cents on common stock, first since June, 1938.

END SHIPYARDS STRIKE, NAVAL OFFICIAL WARNS

Hints Direct Action by Government.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

A warning came from the navy department yesterday that the government may take direct action to get production resumed at the great Kearny, N. J., yards of the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock company if the management and a striking CIO union could not settle their dispute.

Saying that 200,000 man hours of work on "vitally needed combatant ships for the navy" were being lost daily, Ralph Bard, acting secretary of the navy in the absence of Frank Knox, expressed hope in a statement that the strike could be settled at once.

"But if the management and labor cannot arrive at a settlement," he continued, "steps must be taken which will in one way or another put this huge shipbuilding plant back into production at the earliest possible moment."

Asks Government Intervention.

A proposal that the government take over the yards came from Peter Flynn, vice president of a CIO shipbuilding workers' local, who said at Jersey City, N. J., that action should be taken "without another hour's delay."

If the government does take over the yards, Flynn said, "the picket line will instantly become a marching line of American workers rushing back to pick up where they left off one of the most vital jobs in the national defense program."

The Kearny yard has about 18,000 employés. Two cruisers, six destroyers, three tankers, and a number of cargo vessels are on the ways there. In addition the company has orders for five other cruisers and 21 additional destroyers besides merchant vessels.

Cause of Union's Action.

The Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers [CIO] called the strike early Thursday to back up demands for what it said was a modified union shop recommended by the defense mediation board. The management declared a closed shop was asked.

As officials gave close attention to the Kearny situation, a new dispute threatening to cripple airplane parts production developed at the Caldwell, N. J., propeller plant of Curtiss-Wright corporation. Several hundred members of the AFL International Association of Machinists walked out and later presented the management with demands for a general increase of 20 cents an hour and a minimum wage of 75 cents an hour. Present scales were not disclosed.

A management representative said the request would not be considered unless the strikers returned to work and left negotiations to Propeller Craft, an unaffiliated union which won collective bargaining rights in a labor board election this week.

Vast Tieup Possible.

The strikers included steel blade workers and welders. A company official said a shutdown in these departments might force closing of the entire plant, employing 1,493 and holding 100 million dollars of armament orders.

During the day, settlement of strikes at the Columbus, O., plant of the Timken Roller Bearing company and at Heller Brothers company, Newcomerston, O, makers of tools for defense, was announced.

The CIO Steel Workers Organizing committee called a strike July 30 at Timken's plant protesting the discharge of five women employés the company said were dismissed for improper inspection of bearings.

The month old strike at Heller Brothers, also called by the SWOC and affecting 1,200 workers, was settled with agreement on a contract which raised the minimum hourly wage 10 cents to 50 cents for men and 45 cents for women. Five cents increase was given employés in higher classifications.

Galveston Strike Ended.

An agreement reached at Galveston, Tex., ended a strike of some 2,000 AFL workers at the Todd-Galveston Dry Docks.

In Huntington, W. Va., the Steel Workers' Organizing committee [CIO] and the management of the American Car and Foundry company signed a contract last night providing wage increases and the Huntington plant, closed since July 22, will reopen today.

Another development was an announcement by three west coast aircraft companies that they were raising minimum wages retroactive to July 1. They were Douglas, with 32,000 employés, Vultee with 6,700, and Northrop with 2,700. The new scale provides 60 cents an hour at the start with increases of five cents an hour each four weeks until 75 cents is reached.

Plan to Change Securities Act Wins Praise

BY LELAND FORRESTER.

The securities industry stands to benefit if federal rules governing it are amended in accordance with proposals agreed upon Thursday by the industry and the Securities and Exchange commission, Chicago investment bankers declared yesterday.

Francis A. Bonner, endorses changes.

Hope that the suggested program, placed in the hands of house and senate committees, will be enacted speedily was expressed by the bankers. They particularly stressed the view that simplification of prospectus rules and broader exemptions for small issues would tend to stimulate the flow of capital out of the hands of investors into productive uses in industry.

Eighty-six Proposed Changes.

The proposed amendments, numbering 86, were suggested either by the SEC or various organizations representing the securities business.

The SEC and the industry agreed on 55 out of the 86 but were at odds on 31. Forty-eight of the amendments relate to the securities act of 1933, 36 to the securities exchange act of 1934, and 2 to the bankruptcy act.

The industry was represented by the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., a group organized for self-regulation of the over the counter business; the Investment Bankers Association of America, the New York Stock exchange, the New York Curb exchange, and other groups.

Francis A. Bonner, vice president of Blair, Bonner & Co., said enactment of the proposed amendments agreed upon would be "a distinct gain."

Favors Simplification.

"It was a fine job," he said. "I hope that the 55 changes agreed on will get speedy passage in congress. Altho there are many factors holding back the flow of capital into industry, the movement of funds undoubtedly would be encouraged by the suggested changes in the rules. Simplification of prospectus requirements would aid the underwriter and the investor, too. The increase in exemptions on small issues would be a distinct aid to small companies."

Bonner was the first chairman of the board of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., which he helped to develop out of the old Investment Bankers conference late in 1939. He worked with the SEC for six months as special adviser in 1938 to help work out the self-regulation plan for the over the counter business.

Worked Over for Months.

Edward B. Hall, president of Harris, Hall & Co., Inc., asserted that most dealers and investment bankers would like to see the 55 amendments adopted. Hall was president of the IBA in 1937.

"The men who worked on these amendments for the IBA, the NASD, and the stock exchanges devoted months to the task," Hall said. "The amendments on which all groups agreed are constructive and cannot fail to facilitate the transaction of business without relaxing the requirement of full disclosure of facts pertaining to securities.

"The provision for permitting the mailing of a brief description of a new issue will, if enacted, be welcomed by investors and dealers alike. Another excellent thing is the plan to lighten the registration burden with respect to small issues by exempting issues of $300,000 or less.

"I wish the exemption could be extended to issues of a million or less. It would mean a great deal to hundreds of smaller corporations."

View of Francis Patton.

Francis Patton, vice president of A. G. Becker & Co., said that the proposed changes would be "very helpful."

"The whole industry is hopeful," Patton said. "It was an accomplishment to agree on 55 points. It is probable that compromises will be reached on others. The SEC and the industry are not far apart, fundamentally, on some of the other issues."

DIES DENOUNCES OPACS CHIEF ON FLOOR OF HOUSE

Henderson Battles for Control Bill.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 (AP).—While Leon Henderson was advocating the administration's price control bill today before a congressional committee as a weapon of democracy, he was denounced on the house floor by Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.] as having been a member of "five communist controled organizations."

"I woudn't put him in charge of dog catchers," Dies shouted. "The time has come to speak frankly."

Dies did not mention Henderson by name on the house floor, merely saying he was referring to a man who was about to be placed in charge of all price fixing. Off the floor, however, he told reporters he meant Henderson, price administrator.

Supports Price Control Bill.

The administrator, testifying before the house banking committee, described the price control bill as one of a number of steps which a democracy must take to offset the effects of a huge armament program "unless chaos is to take charge."

In response to questions, he said he favored giving the federal reserve board power to increase banks' reserve requirements so as to curb the amount of bank credit and also said it would be "highly desirable" for banks to limit the loans they make for speculative purposes.

Representative Jesse P. Wolcott [R., Mich.] led Henderson thru a maze of questioning about administration fiscal and economic policies of the last few years. At one point, Henderson said he thought the idea that prices could be controled thru revaluing the dollar was "lousy" and declared he had never believed the economic situation could be saved thru "funny money business."

Opposed Cut in Spending.

He asserted that when the administration suddenly curtailed government spending in the fall of 1937 "we went to hell in a wheel barrow." In that connection, he said he had spent three or four hours with President Roosevelt telling him that such a course was wrong.

Earlier, Henderson said temporary unemployment of 2,000,000 persons may result from the transition of American industry from peace time to rearmament production. He said the nation would have to "pay dearly" for a lack of planning and for underestimates of armament needs.

Shortages of raw materials for civilian needs are beginning to develop, he said, and plant closings will result because of judgments which had to be made 18 months ago and which he conceded had been short of the mark.

Many Plants May Close.

Questioned by Wolcott concerning published reports that as many as 5,000 or 6,000 plants would have to close, Henderson said the "condition exists" for such a development. He expressed belief that the dislocation may reach the proportions experienced in England where, he said, the unemployment increase amounted to 20 to 25 per cent. Later, he told newsmen that the effect of priorities and shortages of materials for civilian purposes would inevitably force more and more plants to close and that it may cause the unemployment of 2,000,000 men.

Continental Baking Buys Up Own Preferred Stock

New York, Aug. 8 [Special].—The Continental Baking company announced today that it had accepted tenders on 83,243 shares of its 8 per cent preferred stock totaling $8,709,227. The company asked for tenders in connection with a recapitalization plan under which the company can use up to $17,325,000 to acquire preferred stock at not more than $105 a share including dividend arrears.

Hosiery Firms Hit Criticism by Rayon Men

Chicago factory representatives for hosiery manufacturers yesterday described as "sour grapes" the prediction of New York rayon yarn companies that worthless rayon stockings may be put on the market soon. The rayon yarn producers said the worthless hosiery is likely to result as hosiery producers, unskilled in the use of rayon, turn to that product because of the government's action in freezing stocks of raw silk.

The rayon yarn industry expressed fear that inferior rayon stockings will give women a permanent distaste for rayon stockings.

Says Product Will Be O. K.

J. N. Bogoff, Chicago district manager of Cooper Wells & Co., and other Chicago factory representatives expressed complete confidence that when reliable mills put full fashioned rayon hosiery on the market the women will get their money's worth.

"The better hosiery manufacturers have reputations at stake," Bogoff asserted. "Even if they have to close their factories for several months while they continue experiments, they will not put full fashioned hosiery on the market which is not worth the price and which women will be ashamed to wear."

Bogoff said the rayon yarn producers don't like the idea of setting aside 10 per cent of their production for hosiery and other industries formerly using silk, as ordered by the government, and the prospect of converting even greater production to these purchasers later.

Want to Keep Other Outlets.

Rayon yarn companies have been experimenting with the full fashioned, more expensive type of hosiery for some time, he added, but the hosiery companies have been using rayon only in the lower price, spiral knit seamless hosiery. So the rayon makers built up their markets in other fields, such as women's underwear. They want to serve these customers now, instead of the hosiery industry which previously rejected their product, Bogoff said.

The Chicago factory representatives said all factories now are experimenting with combinations of materials, including rayon, nylon, and mercerized cotton.

Among the rayon yarn producers fearing hosiery manufacturers' mishandling of rayon yarn was J. Spencer Love, president of Burlington Mills corporation, which operates 36 southern plants.

Says Silk Was on Way Out.

He said the most serious danger is that inexperienced hosiery manufacturers may use the wrong fibers or construct the fibers improperly.

Love predicted, however, that the present silk embargo will only shorten the time when man made yarns will almost completely replace silk for all uses. He said the public has not recognized what yarn processors have known for some time—that silk has been on the way out for several years.

John H. Brine, vice president of Oscar Heineman corporation, the only raw silk processor of its kind in Chicago, said this company is hopeful of working out some plan to continue operations. Unlike some silk processors, this company has never processed rayon. For the present, the company is continuing its operations with silk already partially processed. No employés yet have been let off, Brine said.

ARMS OUTPUT RISING; MAY HIT 50% OF PEAK BY JAN. 1—KNUDSEN

Paterson, N. J., Aug. 8 [Special].—William S. Knudsen, director general of the Office of Production Management, asserted today that rearmament production is picking up thruout the nation, and he expressed the hope that 50 per cent of the top schedule will be reached by Jan. 1. His remarks were made after a trip thru the engine plant of the Wright Aeronautical corporation.

Knudsen said engine production is running ahead of airplane production, reversing the situation which prevailed earlier in the year. In commenting on his inspection trip, he said the Wright company had doubled horsepower output since his last visit to the plant in October.

He said machine tool production was running at a rate of 800 million dollars a year. Actual machine tool production this year will be more than 800 millions, he estimated, compared with 400 millions in 1940 and 200 millions in 1939.

Regarding raw materials, Knudsen said the aluminum situation was "all right" at present and that the magnesium situation was "just about."

Great Lakes Yards Obtain Ship Awards

Three Great Lakes shipyards were among five companies with which contracts for construction of 45 small cargo vessels known as "coasters" were negotiated by the maritime commission yesterday in Washington, D. C.

Each contract calls for the building of nine ships at an average price of $950,000. Some, if not all, of the ships are expected to be delivered to Great Britain under the lease-lend act. The "coasters" will be single screw freighters of 2,800 deadweight tons and 258 feet 9 inches long. They are especially designed for coastwise operation.

Names of Companies.

The Great Lakes companies involved were the Lake Superior Shipbuilding company, Superior, Wis., Leatham Smith Coal and Shipbuilding company, Sturgeon Bay, Wis., and Odenbach Shipbuilding corporation, Rochester, N. Y. The others are the Basalt Rock company, Inc., Napa, Cal., and Pacific Bridge company, San Francisco.

Meanwhile, the Defense Plant corporation completed agreements for expansion of the following four plants: Singer Manufacturing company, New York City, $665,000 for additional machinery at Elizabeth, N. J., and Bridgeport, Conn.; Elastic Stop Nut corporation, Union, N. J., $608,736, machinery and equipment; Henry L. Crowley & Co., West Orange, N. J., $245,000, additional plant at West Orange, N. J., and Aeronautical Products, Inc., Detroit, $36,908, additional facilities.

Army Contracts Awarded.

The war department announced the following contracts for Chicago and other Illinois companies:

Graphic Arts association of Illinois, targets, $32,782; Wessel company, targets, $12,720; International Harvester company, forgings, $8,306; U. S. Tent and Awning company, theater tent top, $5,979; Diamond T Motor Car company, 4 ton trucks, $99,389; Bauer & Black division of Kendall company, surgical dressings, $79,074; Allaire, Woodward & Co., Peoria, miscellaneous drugs, $13,570; Desauliniers & Co., Moline, targets, $112,050; Roy E. Roth company, Rock Island, fluid chest and supply chest assemblies, $41,600.

People and Events

The Cosmopolitan National Bank of Chicago, at Chicago avenue and North Clark street, will celebrate its fifth anniversary Tuesday. The bank now serves over 9,400 depositors and has total assets of 5 million dollars. Jacob R. Darmstadt is president and Joseph H. Meyer vice president.

William M. Hommerding, for many years wheat buyer for B. A. Eckhart Milling company, is leaving that firm to enter the grain business at Fargo, N. D. He was presented with a gold watch yesterday by friends on the Chicago Board of Trade.

SEC Orders Standard Gas to Sell Utilities

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 [Special].—The Securities and Exchange commission today ordered the Standard Gas and Electric company to dispose of its interest in several underlying utility companies, in line with the expressed desire of the company to dispose of all such interests except its holdings of common stock of the Philadelphia company, which operates in and around Pittsburgh.

Affected by the order are securities of the California Oregon Power company, Oklahoma Gas and Electric company, Louisville Gas & Electric company, Northern States Power company, Empresa de Servicios Publicos de los Estados Mexicanos, S. A., Wisconsin Public Service corporation, Market Street Railway company, Horseshoe Lake Oil & Gas company, San Diego Securities company, Pacific Gas & Electric company, Little Wolf Power company, Madaras Rotor Power company, Tristate Land company, and Securities Corporation General.

Stand on Philadelphia Company.

The SEC observed that since the Philadelphia company system includes both electric and gas utility companies, Standard Gas must recognize the possibility that the electric and gas companies of Philadelphia may be retained together only if one of them is reasonably incidental and economically necessary and appropriate to the other.

However, the company has taken the position that even if the commission should decide that only the electric or only the gas properties may be retained by Philadelphia company, it still wishes to keep that alone as its single integrated system.

No Objection to Choice.

The commission declared: "Under these circumstances we raise no objection to the selection of Philadelphia company by Standard Gas and we will enter an appropriate order requiring disposition by Standard Gas of its holding in all of its subsidiaries other than Philadelphia and its subsidiaries, which are either public utility companies or registered holding companies."

Standard Gas and Electric company is headed by Leo T. Crowley, who is also chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation.

Plan Big Drive on Hoarding of Arms Material

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 (AP).—The government plans a drive on hoarding of raw materials and scrap needed for the armament program, regardless of whether the hoarders be junk dealers or big manufacturers, it was learned today.

Officials of the Office of Production Management and other armament agencies have become disturbed over evidences of hoarding of such materials in the hope that prices will rise and a profit will result, it was said. Consequently, plans have been laid for an extensive inventory of existing stockpiles of strategic materials and scrap.

First an attempt will be made to encourage those holding the big supplies, if not using them for armament manufacture, to liquidate their stocks. If this persuasion fails, then the government plans seizure with fair compensation to follow.

Claim Ample Authority.

Ample authority exists for this action, officials contend, thru existing laws which will be reenforced and concentrated in the draft property act just passed by congress. This act would specifically authorize the President to seize any property believed necessary for the rearmament effort.

It was learned that junk men in reality have created one of the OPM's biggest headaches. Officials accuse them of sitting on top of the junk heap, as it were, and waiting for prices of scrap to rise. A conference was called at Columbus, O., last week when the government brought together about 300 junk dealers and requested them to help push scrap into armament channels. But they admit that little progress was made.

Campaign Conducted Quietly.

So far the campaign against hoarding has been kept quiet in order to get a better inventory of available stockpiles. Inventories have been taken in some localities which officials refused to disclose. Later a public announcement is expected, requesting coöperation in the program and possibly undertaking a nation-wide inventory.

Officials denied that they planned to restrict big manufacturers from maintaining quantity output of their products if the industries found thru research they could produce the same number of units by stretching available materials and possibly using substitutes or plastics. It had been reported that the government would restrain these big manufacturers from maintaining normal production if the little manufacturers in the same line, without adequate research facilities, could not match the competition.

An official spokesman for OPACS said that the overall policy on production is for manufacturers to produce the maximum of units that can be made from the materials available.

EXTENDS TIME FOR FILING NEW ELECTRIC RATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—The federal power commission announced today that the time allowed Chicago District Generating corporation to revise its rates and charges and file the revised schedule with the commission has been extended from Aug. 15 to Sept. 16. Except for the extension of time, the July 16 order is to continue in full force and effect, the commission said.

In its July 16 order, the commission ordered the corporation to cut its rates to Commonwealth Edison company by $521,978 annually. The corporation had asked suspension of the order pending the filing and disposition of a petition for rehearing and reargument.

The Northern Pacific Railway company yesterday reported a net income for June of $560,645, compared with a net loss of $320,272 for the same month last year. Net income for the first six months was $252,654 against a net loss of $2,366,477 for the corresponding period in 1940.

RAILS SQUEEZED IN GIANT WAGE, RATE PINCERS

Reveal U. S. Seeks Lower Tariffs.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—The nation's railroads have been caught in a giant pincers movement by railroad labor demanding a wage boost and the government in requesting a preferential rate on armament materials owned or financed by the government.

Ralph Budd.

It was learned today that last Tuesday, the day on which a rail strike vote was called over demands for a wage increase, government officials summoned rail executives here for a secret meeting and conferred with them on taking over government freight transportation at rates much below those paid by civilian customers.

Some of Facts Disclosed.

Altho officials have been uncommunicative about the parley, a few of the facts have been learned. Ralph Budd, the transportation commissioner for the armament direction agencies, was requested to summon representatives of the leading railroads to Washington for a conference with government officials who wished to present their proposition.

The government officials, representatives of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, Office of Production Management, and Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, said that they wished to discuss ways and means of handling government traffic on the transcontinental lines or services, to replace the shipping facilities lost when intercoastal vessels were taken off schedules and turned over to Britain.

Want Preferential Rates.

They suggested, also, that these government commodities, either owned or financed by the RFC, should get preferential rates. Altho the extent of the rate reduction has not been made known it is assumed that it was expected to equal the lower water transportation rates.

No decisions were reached and the first parley was described as merely exploratory. The railroad representatives left Washington to examine the existing laws to see whether this procedure would be covered or whether new legislation would be necessary to enable them to handle government traffic over long distances at the reduced rate.

There has been some talk of transferring 100,000 railroad employés to the aviation industry and this, of course, may put a different light on the transportation facilities. The railroads have refused demands for pay increases which they say would add 900 million dollars annually to their costs, and as a result more than 1,100,000 railroad workers were requested by their union leaders last Tuesday to authorize a strike.

BUDD EXPLAINS PLAN

Ralph Budd, who returned to Chicago from Washington yesterday, gave further information on the rate meeting. Besides being the key transportation figure in the preparedness staff at Washington, he is president of the Burlington railroad.

He explained that the conference discussed commodities which normally do not move by rail, but which are now creating substantial amounts of new business for the roads. Commodities covered were moved by tanker steamships, intercoastal shipping, and ocean shipping using the Panama canal. The objective was to try to get the roads to charge rates below permanent rates.

Budd explained that the recent so-called rescinding land grant rail rates applied only to movement of materials and supplies to be used by the government for civilian use. Land grant rates—about a half the regular freight rates—still apply to army and navy freight.

Rate Changes Sought.

Budd said that the governmental agencies which asked him to call the meeting favor rates which will be higher than the land grant rates, but below the published rates. While giving the railroads a better break than the land grant rates, which could be applied to military and naval freight, the proposed rates would produce a lower average on strictly civilian freight moved by the governmental agencies.

Budd said that commodities involved in the negotiations included: lumber, iron and steel, manganese, rubber, tin, hemp, and other items.

Further meetings are expected to be called. Budd in the discussions is merely bringing the governmental officials and railroad executives together. He did not instigate the discussions.

Senate Committee to Study Minerals on West Coast

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 (AP).—The senate national defense investigating committee has decided to investigate minerals on the Pacific coast and will open hearings in Los Angeles on Aug. 18, going later to Seattle, Alaska, and San Francisco.

Eastern Gasoline Ration May Be Only 5 Gallons Per Week

New York, Aug. 8 (AP).—A probability that not more than five gallons of gasoline a week will be available to passenger car drivers in the east this winter was foreseen today by statistical experts in the oil industry.

Commenting on a suggestion that eastern motorists should be limited to 15 gallons of gasoline each a week to prevent the gasoline shortage which now is threatening the Atlantic seaboard, one executive asserted: "That limit wouldn't do any good. The average consumption in this section of the country was 15 gallons per car each week last year. There isn't going to be that much gas around this winter."

Gasoline to Get 4th Rank.

The industry was regarded as convinced that petroleum products will be delivered to the east from the southwest this winter on a priorities basis—with gasoline for automobiles in last place in a list of four.

Heavy industrial oils for arms factories were ranked first, heating oils second, and crude oil supplies third.

Trucks Biggest Users.

Last year the 16 eastern states, with the District of Columbia, used 36 per cent of all the gasoline consumed in the United States. That is, of 24,756,000,000 gallons used, the east used 8,508,612,000.

The east used that amount with 11¼ million motor vehicles, making the average yearly consumption 788 gallons per vehicle.

The vehicle total includes about one and one-half million trucks and buses, the heaviest gasoline users and, at the same time, the most important commercially. Oil men said they thought it likely the average operations of trucks and buses would constantly increase during the emergency period paring still farther the ratio available to passenger cars.

OFFICIAL OVERRIDES OPPOSITION TO TEXAS OIL DAY FOR BRITAIN

Austin, Tex., Aug. 8 [Special].—A request by a group of Houston oil companies for further hearings on a plan to donate a day's Texas oil production with a value of about $5,000,000 to Great Britain was overridden today by a member of the state's oil regulatory agency. Jerry Sadler, member of the Texas railroad commission, asserted there was no need for additional hearings.

The plan was announced by the commission on July 24. The original date for the gift plan was Aug. 10. It was postponed later to Aug. 17.

Sadler criticized the oil companies for their request. He declared the donation would be for the "good of public welfare" and that the British needed the oil immediately.

RETAILER TRADE RUNS 20 TO 26% ABOVE YEAR AGO

New York, Aug. 8 (AP).—National buying this week in retail stores, stimulated by heavy demand for women's silk hosiery as a result of commandeering of silk supplies by the government, averaged 20 to 26 per cent above a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

"Retailers had an especially busy week for this time of the year, altho many complained on the concentrated nature of the demand," the credit agency said. "For the first time anticipatory purchasing assumed large proportions outside of the hard goods field, as shoppers rushed hosiery counters to guard against silk shortages."

CHICAGOAN PUT ON LEGAL STAFF OF OPACS CHIEF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—C. David Ginsburg, general counsel to Price Administrator Leon Henderson, has added Walter Blum of Chicago to his legal staff, it was disclosed today. Blum, whose home is at 5520 South Shore drive, recehtly was graduated from the University of Chicago law school.

Another Chicagoan is already on the legal staff of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. He is Brunson MacChesney, formerly associate professor of law at Northwestern university, and formerly with the law firm of Sidley, McPherson, Austin and Burgess.

The general counsel, Ginsburg, is a graduate of Harvard law school, and prior to joining Henderson was law clerk to Associate Justice William O. Douglas, and with the Securities and Exchange commission.

Other members of Ginsburg's staff include: Harold Leventhal, Columbia law school graduate, and formerly law secretary to Chief Justice Harlan Fiske Stone and Associate Justice Stanley Reed; David Cobb, Harvard law graduate, formerly with the SEC and wage and hour division of the labor department; and Thomas I. Emerson, Yale law graduate, formerly special assistant to the United States attorney general.

SILK INDUSTRY GETS 'STOPGAP' OPERATING PLAN

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 (AP).—A temporary emergency program designed to expand the use of existing stocks of silk and nylon, a synthetic fiber made by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., was adopted today by government officials and recommended to the hosiery industry.

Hosiery mills which have on hand thrown silk which cannot be used for military purposes would be permitted to make stockings of it, but the stockings could be only 50 per cent silk, the balance to be of materials other than silk or nylon.

Half of the available supply of nylon could be used in all-nylon stockings. The other half would be used with other yarns for a 50 per cent nylon stocking.

The program, officially termed a "stop-gap," was formulated by the joint commodity section created by the Office of Production Management and the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply.

Answer: Tsutomu Nishiyama, Japanese financial commissioner in New York, said July 27 that his nation is anxious to maintain its record as one of the few nations which never have defaulted on a foreign loan. He said his government had authorized him to assure the American people that debt service will be met on Japanese government bonds, those of the cities and agencies which were guaranteed by the government on issuance and those assumed by the Japan Electric Power Generation company.

TWA'S QUARTER NET UP, BUT SO IS ½ YEAR LOSS

Three Month Profit Rises to 24 Cents a Share.

Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., earned more in the 1941 June quarter than a year earlier, but for the first six months of this year had a net loss which was much larger than in the 1940 period, Jack Frye, president, reported yesterday.

Net income in the quarter ended with June was $231,833, equal to 24 cents a share. A year ago the company reported a June quarter profit of $778.

For the first half of this year net loss climbed to $756,166, compared with a loss of $72,002 in the first six months of 1940. The June quarter results whittled down the $987,999 net loss which TWA reported for the March quarter of this year.

June Revenues Top Million.

Frye said that passenger revenues in June exceeded a million dollars for the first month in the air line's 11 year history. For the first half of 1941 operating revenues of the company increased 22.6 per cent over the revenues for the corresponding 1940 period.

Six month passenger revenues rose to $4,245,737, from $3,149,122; express and freight revenue to $195,771, from $124,192, and total revenue to $6,004,306, from $4,899,055, despite a drop in mail revenue to $1,437,793, from $1,565,806. The drop in mail revenue was the result of a revision in the basis of payments, Frye said. The air mail pound mileage increased.

Revenue passenger miles flown during the half year jumped to 84,688,079 from 62,504,225, mostly because of traffic connected with military activities and armament production, Frye's report said.

Maytag Quarter Net Dips.

Maytag company, washing machine manufacturer, announced that its profit in the quarter ended June 30 was $335,183, compared with $342,080 in the corresponding 1940 period. Six month profit this year was larger than a year ago, however, amounting to $856,389, against $698,465. Maytag and other companies in the washer industry are among the numerous enterprises which are hindered by government rationing of metals.

Joslyn Manufacturing and Supply company, Chicago maker of telephone line equipment and other products, reported increased profits and sales for the first half of 1941. Net income rose to $593,370, equal to $3.66 a common share, from $356,481, or $2.08 a share, in the first six months of 1940. Joslyn's net sales jumped to $12,130,788, from $7,555,279.
